Invisible Digital 2024-01-11 invisible digital helps us makes sense of something we cannot see by presenting an innovative approach to digital images and digital culture at its heart is a novel method for exploring software used in the creation of moving images as markers of converging cultural organizational and technological influences the three main case studies of invisible digital are the animated feature moana 2016 and the computer games no man s sky 2016 and everything 2017 all three were created using procedural techniques simulation software for moana and procedural content generation for no man s sky and everything production culture disclosures associated with procedural techniques often emphasize the influences of automated systems and their algorithms making them ideal for a study that interrogates digital processes the approach of invisible digital is informed by relational theories and the concept of entanglement based on materialist perspectives combined with insights from work that more explicitly interrogates algorithms and algorithmic culture aylish wood employs the notion of assemblages to introduce the concept of material cultural narratives using this conceptual framework she draws out material cultural narratives for each case study to demonstrate what they reveal about software and digital culture these analyses of software provide a widely applicable method through which moving image studies can contribute more fully to the wider and growing debates about algorithmic culture

Navigating the Transnational in Modern American Literature and Culture 2017-03-16 this study develops the important work carried out on american literature through the frameworks of transnational transatlantic and trans local studies to ask what happens when these same aspects become intrinsic to the critical narrative much cultural criticism since the 1990s has sought to displace perceptions of american exceptionalism with broader notions of atlanticism transnationalism world system and trans localism as each has redefined the us and the world more generally this collection shows how the remapping of america in terms of global networks and as a set of particular localities or even glocalities now plays out in americanist scholarship reflecting on the critical consequences of the spatial turn in american literary and cultural studies spanning twentieth and twenty first century american poetry fiction memoir visual art publishing and television and locating the us in caribbean african asian european and other contexts this volume argues for a re modelling of american ness with the transnational as part of its innate rhetoric it includes discussions of travel migration disease media globalization and countless other examples of inflowing essays focus on subjects tracing the contemporary contours of the transnational such as the role of the us in the rise of the global novel the impact of caribbean history on american thought and vice versa transatlantic cultural and philosophical genealogies and correspondences and the exchanges between the poetics of american space and those of other world spaces asking questions about the way the american eye has traversed and consumed the objects and cultures of the world but how that world is resistant this volume will make an important contribution to american and transatlantic literary studies

How Emotions Are Made 2017-03-23 how emotions are made did what all great books do it took a subject i thought i understood and turned my understanding upside down malcolm gladwell author of the tipping point when you feel anxious angry happy or surprised what s really going on inside of you many scientists believe that emotions come from a specific part of the brain triggered by the world around us the thrill of seeing an old friend the fear of losing someone we love each of these sensations seems to arise automatically and uncontrollably from within us finding expression on our faces and in our behaviour carrying us away with the experience this understanding of emotion has been around since plato but what if it is wrong in how emotions are made pioneering psychologist and neuroscientist lisa feldman barrett draws on the latest scientific evidence to reveal that our common sense ideas about emotions are dramatically even dangerously out of date and that we have been paying the price emotions aren t universally pre programmed in our brains and bodies rather they are psychological experiences that each of us constructs based on our unique personal history physiology and environment this new view of emotions has serious implications when judges issue lesser sentences for crimes of passion when police officers fire at threatening suspects or when doctors choose between one diagnosis and another they re all in some way relying on the ancient assumption that emotions are hardwired into our brains and bodies revising that conception of emotion isn t just good science barrett shows it s vital to our well being and the health of society itself
