Register of the Commissioned and Warrant Officers of the United States Navy and Marine Corps 1954 psychologists in different tributaries of the discipline have long been preoccupied with aspects of justice but none previously has addressed the essential question raised in this book namely of justice being as vital to the essentials of life and to the flowering of the human spirit as other basic needs the same can be said for academics and practitioners in other disciplines in social science as well as those in mental health and psychiatry although lawyers might come close to accepting the proposition it seems to me that in the main their professional expertise is directed to the superficial maintenance of systems of justice rather than to the underlying reasons for doing so this book arising from academic clinical empirical and theoretical studies goes the further mile by giving justice its proper place in the hierarchy of basic human needs it is designed in accord with a general systems theory in which contributions are welcomed from international scholars and researchers in different domains of knowledge above all it is written in the hope of inducing others to share a commitment to justice and do their utmost to prevent injustice

United States Civil Aircraft Register 1975 computational modeling by jay wang introduces computational modeling and visualization of physical systems that are commonly found in physics and related areas the authors begin with a framework that integrates model building algorithm development and data visualization for problem solving via scientific computing through carefully selected problems methods and projects the reader is guided to learning and discovery by actively doing rather than just knowing physics
