joy nelson doesn t feel comfortable at her job and her best friend has moved to montana and completely abandoned her she knows she will never again feel comfortable working for the principal who dumped her best friend for her best friend s sister so she decides to look for something new a new job a new life a new world joy needs different and she s determined to find it in the back of her mind she can't stop contemplating what life would be like with her best friend's new brother-in-law Jim. Jim Cauldron knows he has to get married; that much is an established fact. But how can he possibly know who to marry? He's never dated much, what with the people in town being superstitious about triplets and the entire Cauldron family he met and danced with a girl at his brother's wedding that intrigues him, and he still can't quit thinking about the problem. Is she a school counselor, which means she has a master's degree he can barely read, will she think he is beneath her, or can the two of them let their mutual attraction grow into something more?

This book reveals what is happening in small communities across the United States as their newspapers struggle to survive. It is a celebration, not just of journalism but of the inspirational people who do it and the news and events of small towns. Importantly, it asks the question: who will be the community watchdog of the future? This book memorializes the American newspaper through the story of the Post Star.

of glens falls ny the author a devoted veteran of the post star compiles a series of vignettes that depict the newspaper s coverage over the years they provide a glimpse behind the newsroom curtain through the stories of the investigative journalism done in small towns
