a contextual history of massachusetts olmsted national historic site tells the story of the evolution of the defenses of san juan puerto rico and the role they played in helping to safeguard spanish possessions in the caribbean from the 16th to the 19th centuries african american history hampton national historic site in towson maryland was established in 1948 to preserve the surviving 63 acres of the vast empire built by the ridgely family beginning in the 18th century in its heyday the estate covered 25 000 noncontiguous acres and included agricultural fields orchards livestock quarries mills and ironworks today visitors flock to the magnificent georgian mansion farm manager s house slave quarters dairy agricultural buildings formal gardens and family cemetery the story of hampton national historic site extends beyond its buildings and setting to the people who lived and worked on the estate during the 200plus years of ridgely ownership including the indentured servants the enslaved and the paid workforce the legacy of hampton national historic site is illustrated here through rich primary source material that was generated for and by the ridgelys including written documentation historic images and physical artifacts the museum management plan for the consolidated operation of the 3 national parks eugene o neill john muir rosie the riveter and the affiliated area of port chicago and issues facing the parks with recommendations to address them describes the history of the spanish missions in the san antonio texas area now preserved as the san antonio missions national historical park in 1984 the former delaware lackawanna western railroad yard became the home to a millionaire s train collection nine years and many improvements later the steamtown national historic site opened its door to welcome over 100 000 visitors annually steamtown occupies an estimated 65 acres of the old scranton railroad yard with several of its original structures remaining on the site it also includes a visitor s center two museums a restored roundhouse and a plethora of exhibits and locomotives much to the delight of railfans of all ages the steamtown national historic site is an integral part of the preservation of railroad history as it is representative of a steam era gone by in 1916 congress passed the organic act that created the national park services nps the act provided the basis needed to better manage the nation s already existing and growing assortment of federally protected lands by placing these under the direct supervision of a national bureau more important the organic act established the essential tenets of faith that have long guided nps policy according to the act the park service seeks to conserve the scenery and the natural and historic objects and the wildlife within the parks and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations under the sponsorship of sir walter raleigh english settlers established two colonies on roanoke island north carolina in 1585 and 1587 respectively the colonists from the first settlement returned to england while the men women and children from the second settlement simply disappeared thus becoming known to history as the lost colony despite initial failure and tragedy these expeditions fueled and aided future colonization attempts by england including the founding of jamestown virginia in 1607 the first permanent english settlement in the new world many generations accepted the northern shore of roanoke island as the location for the famous cittie of raleigh the site was thus the focus of various commemorative efforts over the years in the 1890s the roanoke colony memorial association rcma was formed to preserve the area during the 1930s the state of north carolina administered the site as a state park and developed a highly conjectural reconstruction of log structures as a new deal work project during the same period local enthusiasts formed the roanoke island historical association riha which took over the preservation and commemorative work of the rcma over the years fort raleigh s managers have focused largely on preserving and recovering the site s archeological data interpreting the area s history to the public and managing the park s unique partnership with riha since 1990 that mission has also included promoting greater understanding of civil war era events on roanoke island the history of the island s indigenous inhabitants and even the area s role in the development of early radio this study of fort raleigh national historic site focuses upon its administrative history this administrative history documents how fort raleigh national historic site was created and later managed by the park service it discusses how nps managers have sought to accommodate commercial and community interests while maintaining their own basic allegiance to the standards of professional scholarship and the directives of the nps organic act within this study emphasis is placed upon the years of nps administration but a review of the site s historical importance is also included excerpt from preserving the mystery an administrative history of fort raleigh national historic site the waterside theater after the building sets were changed
