coping with adversity addresses the question of why some metropolitan area regional economies are resilient in the face of economic shocks and chronic distress while others are not it is particularly concerned with what public policies make a difference in whether a region is resilient the authors employ a wide range of techniques to examine the experience of all metropolitan area economies from 1978 2014 they then look closely at six american metropolitan areas to determine what strategies were employed which of these contributed to regional economic resilience and which did not charlotte north carolina seattle washington and grand forks north dakota are cases of economic resilience while cleveland ohio hartford connecticut and detroit michigan are cases of economic nonresilience the six case studies include hard data on employment production and demographics as well as material on public policies and actions the authors conclude that there is little that can be done in the short term to counter economic shocks most regions simply rebound naturally after a relatively short period of time however they do find that many regions have successfully emerged from periods of prolonged economic distress and that there are policies that can be applied to help them do so coping with adversity will be important reading for all those concerned with local and regional economic development including public officials urban planners and economic developers this book adopts a novel analytical approach to understanding how russia s stalled democratisation is related to the incomplete liberalisation of the economy based on extensive original comparative study of russia s regions the book explores the precise channels of interaction that create the mutuality of property rights entrepreneurship rule of law norms of citizenship and liberal democracy it demonstrates that the extent of democratisation varies across regions and that this variation is connected to the extent of liberalisation of the economy moreover it argues that the key factor in producing this linkage is the relative prominence of small business owners and their supporters in articulating their interests vis à vis regional and local administrations especially through the institutionalisation of networks and business associations the book develops its key theses by means of detailed analysis of the experiences of four case study regions overall the book provides a major contribution to understanding the path of democratisation in russia
