EUROPEAN HIST 2016-08-26 aid to developing countries started well before world war ii but was undertaken as an ad hoc activity or was delivered by private organizations this changed after the war in his inaugural address in 1949 the american president harry truman announced a bold new programme for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped nations the so called point iv plan at that time it was thought that this support would be needed only for a limited number of years comparable to the marshall plan assistance to europe but reality proved to be different providing aid was a very long term affair since the fifties the aid provided has changed at different occasions in the beginning aid concentrated on constructing infrastructure such as roads railways dams and harbours in order to promote industrial development in the sixties aid to agriculture was added and in the seventies aid to social sectors basic needs was also provided the eighties brought worldwide debt problems major donors applied structural adjustment policies some called this the lost decade década perdida the nineties saw the arrival of the first environmental considerations and asked for attention for the role of women and good governance the form of aid changed from projects to programmes and budget support describing the different aid forms of the last 65 years and analysing why aid changed from time to time are the subjects of this book professionals and students in the area of international cooperation will benefit from studying this history as at this moment old concepts are reappearing or applied by new donors like china is the pendulum really swinging back as louis emmerij at one point suggested

The Development of Aid 2015-01-12 at the global level international actors have repeatedly expressed their desire to end hunger and food insecurity however food insecurity has persisted more analysis is hence needed on the link between continuously high levels of global food insecurity and the ever increasing flow of development aid global food security and development aid investigates the impact that development aid has had on food security in developing countries and includes international case studies on peru ethiopia india and vietnam it examines the effect of development aid in general and the impact of aid divided into different categories based on donor mechanism and sector to which it is provided in each examined relationship between aid and food security particular attention is paid to the potentially intervening role played by the quality of national and or local governance the book makes policy recommendations most importantly that donors should take greater care in considering which types of aid are suitable to which specific countries localities and development goals and account for expected developments in the complex relationship between aid food security and governance this book will be of considerable interest to students researchers and policy makers in the areas of development aid and food security

Global Food Security and Development Aid 2016-11-03 developing countries have undergone significant industrialization in the last three decades yet industrial growth reveals marked spatial inequalities in terms of both country and location the newly industrialised countries have achieved spectacular growth in sharp contrast to many other countries of the south industrial structure has changed moving away from labour intensive industries to more technologically advanced manufacturing developing countries have had considerable success in penetrating developed country markets but they are now encountering more market restrictions the role of the government in the development of the economy is also changing increasingly countries are turning towards export orientated industrialization strategies and privatization whilst their governments are emphasising their facilitative role

Industrialization and Development in the Third World 2003-09-02 this book explores the role of institutions in policy making and the states role in promotion of technology focusing on environmental technology development case studies include wind power diffusion in the uk and germany waste recycling in a variety of countries and green automobile technology in the us and japan
