for nearly two generations this translation of the tao te ching has been the standard for those seeking access to the wisdom of taoist thought now jane english and her long time editor toinette lippe have refreshed and revised the translation so that it more faithfully reflects the classical chinese in which it was first written while taking into account changes in our own language and eliminating any lingering infelicities lao tsu s philosophy is simple accept what is in front of you without wanting the situation to be other than it is study the natural order of things and work with it rather than against it for to try to change what is only sets up resistance nature provides everything without requiring payment or thanks it does so without discrimination so let us present the same face to everyone and treat them all as equals however they may behave if we watch carefully we will see that work proceeds more quickly and easily if we stop trying if we stop putting in so much extra effort if we stop looking for results in the clarity of a still and open mind truth will be reflected to which may be translated as virtue or strength lies always in tao meaning the way or natural law in other words simply be having imagined a machine like world scientists now haunt this machine uneasily their plight is paradoxical they have realized their world only through intense mental effort yet this effort finds no legitimate place in the world it so painstakingly comprehends it seems objectivity only comes at a cost why for example is science unable to describe a smile why is the moral life of a physicist regarded as his or her own private affair this exclusion of human qualities from science has practical as well as theoretical consequences if we systematically imagine a world in which human beings don't exist we will eventually create a world in which they cannot exist reclaiming the human sources of scientific insight the authors of this book restore the scientist to the world given by science and celebrate the joyous marriage of sense and thought the way things go the concept of tao has been used since ancient times in chinese philosophy religion and spirituality to indicate the infinite principle of creation the origin of good and evil of everything that exists the beginning of the existence of all beings the tao te ching is an ancient chinese manuscript about the tao and it tries to explain in simple words a concept that is not easily intelligible as it is infinite therefore it is not easy to define the legendary author of the tao te ching lao tzu was an old wise man who lived in the centuries between the 6th and 5th bc and he is still revered today as a saint with his book of the tao lao tzu is considered the founder of the school of thought known as taoism s a julien j legge s williams p carus d t suzuki t f wade h a giles d goddard are among the most eminent sinologists and translators of the tao te ching in the years between the late 18th century and early 1900 wade and giles give their name to the transliteration or romanization the transcription of the pronunciation of chinese ideograms in the letters of the latin alphabet in use until 1979 the year in which the modern pinyin iso system was adopted the system that is also used on the internet the romanization of the chinese title of the book 道德經 wade giles lao tzu tao te ching in pinyin chinese is lao zi dao de jing in this book i have kept the pronunciation with which the tao te ching has spread translated into all the languages of the world and has been known by mine and by past generations this edition to which i have added for tao lovers and scholars the original full text in chinese ideograms and romanization is taken from the book tao wu wei brentano s publishers new york 1919 which included d goddard s original english translation of the tao teh king and a short essay on taoism wu wei by dutch sinologist writer and translator henri borel 1869 1933 this book does not include borel s wu wei in 1939 d goddard became a publisher himself and he published a different translation of the tao teh king made in collaboration with bhikshu wai tao which still included the wu wei with the addition of the notes on taoist philosophy and religion by dr kiang kang hu the reason why i chose among the many the english translation by d goddard is because in my opinion it is the simplest and the most literal dwight goddard 1861 1939 was an american writer and translator who became a pioneer in the american zen buddhist movement the publication of the texts marked the end of a fascinating journey on the part of goddard from engineer to christian missionary and minister to student to practitioner of zen buddhism the best record of this journey is goddard s own writings r aitken with an innumerable series of essays translations and collections of sacred texts first of all a buddhist bible 1932 he inspired the greatest poets of the beat generation like jack kerouac and allen ginsberg the translation of the tao teh king was one of the few explicitly non buddhist texts in that collection j bruno hare a treatise and interpretation of lao tzu s tao te ching by dennis m waller the tao is an ancient philosophy of living in the natural world it shows the way of how to get back to being your authentic self your spiritual self the tao has the power to help you reclaim your life from the temporal ego identity that is imprisoning you with the tao you can discover your authentic identity by getting back to the being ness and oneness of living in the divine consciousness through discovering these truths we can become the creators of the universe instead of the passive observers we have been we can learn to live life in the infinity of the now verses living in the clutches of the ego the tao shows us how to grow detached from the ego identity by becoming in direct contact with our true intent and motives that was meant for us when we do we begin to see ourselves as we truly are it is being authentic that we become reconnected to the divine source what is the way of the tao it is the way things are in their own natural progression of life and death the way of intelligent design as shown in nature this is the way of the tao it is the way without dogmas formalities or religion to live in the tao is to live in peace and harmony the tao gives you the knowledge of being one with the higher realm of divine consciousness and to experience the innerconnectiveness to all living things it is to have the awareness of being in this world while knowing that you are not part of it because you are more than all of this you are one and 10 000 things at the same moment you are the song that the bird sings the breeze blowing through the trees the fish swimming in a brook the warmth of the sun shining from above the coolness of the earth below your feet you are life and death all at once and not at all there is no separation in the divine oneness the tao contains the power to liberate you from the ego imposed prison of the dualistic world living in the tao can bring a deep inner peace and a reconnection to the divine source the wisdom of the tao is in a practical sense a way to live life with the clarity of knowing the universal truth when you are living in the tao you will see resistance and opposition fade away conflict and stress will become distant memories the issues of life become irrelevant or will simply disappear once you start living your authentic self with the tao the tao shows how to transcend all those insurmountable obstacles that the ego has created there is another level of existence that is the real true genuine substance of who you are this is the authentic self the authentic self is the real you that can be found at your absolute core it is the part of you not defined by your job function nationality religion race or role in life it is the composite of all your skills talents and wisdom it is all of the things that are uniquely yours and need expression rather than what you believe you are supposed to be and do the choice we need to make is whether to trust in our own nature to be of a pure heart and mind or to live in a world where we are trying to control everything we have seen that going against our nature provides no comfort or satisfaction for our souls for authentic satisfaction for true peace we must learn to realize who we are and where we came from the truth is all around us you can hear the voice of god in the laughter of children at play and in the songs of the birds you can see god in all his glory throughout all of nature it is all around us to see and experience remember you are part of this universe and here to experience it be your authentic self and be one with it all to live in the tao and live your purpose is to live life to the fullest part poetry part paradox always stirring and profound lao tzu s tao te ching has been inspiring readers since it was written over two thousand years ago this masterpiece is also one of the most frequently translated books in all of history in part because the multiple meanings of the chinese characters make it impossible to translate into a western language in a strictly literal way for this reason many translations are either too loosely interpretive or are too overloaded with notes thereby losing the clarity of the terse poetry found in the original chinese the extraordinary strength of sam hamill s translation is that it has captured the poetry of lao tzu s original without sacrificing the resonance of the text s many meanings and possible interpretations the result is a beautiful and deeply meditative rendering one that is a delight to read over and over again accompanying sam hamill s translation are seventeen chinese characters brushed by one of the great masters of calligraphy kazuaki tanahashi hamill provides a comment for each character giving the reader a fuller sense of the richness of the original text and insight into the process of translation itself
