The Jacquerie, Or the Lady and the Page 2009 excerpt from the jacquerie or the lady and the page a historical romance by this time however great changes and ameliorations had taken place in the condition of that class and they stood in a very different position from that in the had been placed at the time that europe first issued fo from the darkness of the ninth century many wise and good monarchs had willingly and anxiously contributed to add comforts to the situation of the lower orders and if not actually to unbind the fetters from their hands at least so to regulate the relations between the lords of the soil and them that those fetters might not be made more galling many unwise and vicious monarchs too for god often uses the wicked as instruments of good in their quarrels with the baronage which some times trod rather hard upon the skirts of the royal mantle had endeavoured to punish the obnoxious class by giving back some of the privileges of man to those on whom that class trampled and thus though the villeins upon the lord s estates or territory were still nominally his chattels as much as his horse his dog or his hawk yet in his dealing with them he was restrained within certain limits and by certain rules their property was protected their lives and persons were under the safe nard of the law and they were no longer a mere herd of catt e to be dealt with at the leasure of a brutal owner about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such

anne s father lord furston is a man who is set in his ways he is conservative and has become even more so since the death of anne s mother he uses his routine as a comfort to ease her passing the only thorn in his side is that his daughter is still not married he arranges for her to marry lord bourne a man about his own age but with a great wealth anne agrees to meet with the lord though she does not like the idea it is not the lord himself that makes an impression on anne but his son drake when drake declares his undying love for anne she must make a decision does she make her father happy and accept an easy life as lord bourne s wife or does she choose drake it is no easy choice excerpt from book anne remained quiet much of the next morning as she and her father each busily prepared for their trip to wolford lord furston interpreted his daughter s silence as an acquiescence he thought she had come to her senses and realized that he had her best interest at heart and that being married to a powerful lord like lord bourne would be good for her life lord furston was dreadfully incorrect on all accounts anna was thinking very deeply as her maid helped her get ready her hair was plaited and she was squeezed into a bulky gown anne felt that she looked her best in a simple house dress but the situation called for more formal attire she had ribbons put in her hair and her face powdered her maid chattered away about how lucky she was and how lord bourne s servants spoke most highly of his character anne was polite to her maid whom she cared for dearly but she did not expose the contents of her heart anne furston was considering running away she was not starry eyed she understood that if she ran away she would be required to become a seamstress a governess or some labor intensive position this did not frighten her her privileged existence had not rendered her incapable of labor and in fact delighted in helping the servants whenever her father did not take care to notice it was undoubtedly a radical idea to consider but she felt that her father was pushing her to it she could not marry a man her father s age no matter how kind and generous he was she was a believer in romantic love and although she was not seeking to be married she had not ruled out the possibility of falling in love she had seen the way her parents loved each other and she wanted to emulate such a love she had assumed her father would respect those wishes despite his conservatism and it was possible that had her mother lived this might have been true but her father was very changed and very serious about her marrying against her will she had a plan author s note this is a 8 000 word stand alone story with an hea so no cliff hangers story contains mature themes and language and is intended for 18 readers only
