Inventing Future Cities

2018-12-11

how we can invent but not predict the future of cities we cannot predict future cities but we can invent them cities are largely unpredictable because they are complex systems that are more like organisms than machines neither the laws of economics nor the laws of mechanics apply cities are the product of countless individual and collective decisions that do not conform to any grand plan they are the product of our inventions they evolve in inventing future cities michael batty explores what we need to understand about cities in order to invent their future batty outlines certain themes principles that apply to all cities he investigates not the invention of artifacts but inventive processes today form is becoming ever more divorced from function information networks now shape the traditional functions of cities as places of exchange and innovation by the end of this century most of the world's population will live in cities large or small sometimes contiguous and always connected in an urbanized world it will be increasingly difficult to define a city by its physical boundaries batty discusses the coming great transition from a world with few cities to a world of all cities argues that future cities will be defined as clusters in a hierarchy describes the future high frequency real time streaming city considers urban sprawl and urban renewal and maps the waves of technological change which grow ever more intense and lead to continuous innovation an unending process of creative destruction out of which future cities will emerge

The Shias of Pakistan

the shias of pakistan are the world s second largest shia community after that of iran but comprise only 10 15 per cent of pakistan s population in recent decades sunni extremists have increasingly targeted them with hate propaganda and terrorism yet paradoxically shias have always been fully integrated into all sections of political professional and social life without suffering any discrimination in mainstream politics the shia sunni divide has never been an issue in pakistan shia politicians in pakistan have usually downplayed their religious beliefs but there have always been individuals and groups who emphasised their shia identity and who zealously campaigned for equal rights for the shias wherever and whenever they perceived these to be threatened shia ulama have been at the forefront of communal activism in pakistan since 1949 but shia laymen also participated in such organisations as they had in pre partition india based mainly on urdu sources rieck s book examines first the history of pakistan s shias including their communal organisations the growth of the shia ulama class of religious schools and rivalry between orthodox ulama and popular preachers second the outcome of lobbying of successive pakistan governments by shia organisations and third the shia sunni conflict which is increasingly virulent due to the state s failure to combat sunni extremism

Geoethics

2015-08-24

this special publication will be an important tool for geoscientists aimed at increasing the awareness of their societal role and responsibility in conducting education research and practice activities what are the responsibilities of a geoscientist and what motivations are needed to push geoscientists to practice the earth sciences in an ethical way the major environmental challenges affecting human communities require not only a strictly scientific and technical preparation by the geoscientists but also a reflection on their broader obligations towards society it is important that geoscientists consider geoethics as an indispensable framework on which to base their training and activity the principles of geoethics can guide them to pursue the common good by weighing the benefits and costs of each choice and identifying eco friendly and society friendly solutions that guarantee the respect of the right balance between human life and the dynamics of the earth communication and dissemination of geosciences should become core activities in building a knowledge based society which is able better to protect itself and the earth ecosystems in order to guarantee a life in harmony with our planet for future generations

Handbook of Gentrification Studies

2018

it is now over 50 years since the term gentrification was first coined by the british urbanist ruth glass in 1964 in which time gentrification studies has become a subject in its own right this handbook the first ever in gentrification studies is a critical and authoritative assessment of the field although the handbook does not seek to rehearse the classic literature on gentrification from the 1970s to the 1990s in detail it is referred to in the new assessments of the field gathered in this volume the original chapters offer an important dialogue between existing theory and new conceptualisations of gentrification for new times and new places in many cases offering novel empirical evidence

Borders, Migration and Class in an Age of Crisis

2019-07-03

this book responds to global tendencies toward increasingly restrictive border controls and populist movements targeting migrants for violence and exclusion informed by marxist theory it challenges standard narratives about immigration and problematises commonplace distinctions between migrants and workers using britain as a case study the book examines how these categories have been constructed and mobilised within representations of a migrant crisis and a welfare crisis to facilitate capitalist exploitation it uses ideas from grassroots activism to propose alternative understandings of the relationship between borders migration and class that provide a basis for solidarity
