The "new Imperialism" 1961 this book discusses the nature of china s current international reassertion of itself and the thinking and attitudes which lie behind it it argues that the chinese leadership has a strongly held view of its own high moral authority which emphasises inclusion equality and mutual benefits and that this sense of morality underpins the driving forces for china s foreign policies the geo strategic reasoning for outward expansion china s strategic culture the idealistic rationalization of china s overseas activities the overall chinese worldview and china s vision of the chinese world order based on original research into both writings for policy making purposes which indicate realistic assessments of world politics and of china s international capacity and also narratives for public consumption which have less emphasis on self interest and realpolitik the book approaches the subject empirically and not through the lens of any international relations theory it highlights how china s outward expansion has been characterized mainly by spreading influence through non use of force and strategies of inclusiveness co operation and winning without fighting the book concludes however that beijing s self privileging high morality may have the unfortunate consequence of reinforcing its own behaviour which defies international order and which others disapprove of thereby increasing the likelihood of non armed and armed conflicts

1997 originally published in 1979 imperialism intervention and development provides an introduction to key issues in international politics in the post world war ii era the emphasis is on conflict particularly the confrontation between east and west and the contention between rich industrialised nations and the poor developing nations the book debates the causes of western intervention expansion and counter revolution in the third world and the consequences of that intervention for economic development the spectrum and depth of the articles is both comprehensive and varied including examples of mainstream academic perspectives on the issues examined incorporating many of the radical critiques of these mainstream approaches other more basic material presupposing little prior knowledge in the field is concerned is also included

Imperialism Intervention and Development 2018-11-09 with the terrorist attacks of september 11 2001 the united states long war on communism was replaced by a perpetual war on terror the authors posit that this neo imperialistic phase is but the latest development in a line of thought and action established after world war ii but they say 2005 is not 1945 today they argue the united states uses its power to deplete the resources of the developing world and to compel the rest of the world to remain dependent on american management of the global economy contending that this situation is ultimately untenable they assert that the united states is entering a period of deep crisis the best thing for american neo imperialists to do to avert their worst nightmare a strategic and economic alliance among europe russia china and opec would be to arrange for the orderly withdrawal of american power before it is too late for the human and environmental security of the world when the soviet union collapsed in 1991 the cold war slowly gave way to a new world order in which the united states was left as the lone superpower but the organizing principle that would characterize the early 21st century was as yet unclear until the terrorist attacks of september 11 2001 now it is clear that the long war on communism has been replaced by a perpetual war on terror regardless of how long american troops remain in iraq and irrespective of further military actions george w bush will continue to be a wartime president whose foreign policy is dominated by the pentagon and yet the authors argue this neo imperialistic phase with its emphasis on eurasian oil supplies is but the latest development in a line of thinking and acting in the world that was established by such men as dean acheson and paul nitze after world war ii but 2005 is not 1945 and the united states despite secretary of defense donald rumsfeld and vice president dick cheney s assertions is not liberating iraq and afghanistan in the same way that u s forces liberated germany and japan it is not reconstructing iraq or the former yugoslavia as it did when it rebuilt war torn western europe with the marshall plan the united states with its thinly stretched military and deficit laden economy does not possess the means to do so today instead the authors maintain the united states is simply depleting the developing world s natural resources compelling the rest of the developed world to remain dependent on american management of the global economy this situation is ultimately untenable the authors argue and as a result the united states is entering a period of deep crisis the best thing for american neo imperialists to do to avert their worst nightmare a strategic and economic alliance among europe russia china and opec would be to arrange for the orderly withdrawal of american power before it is too late for the human and environmental security of the world as a whole
