the idea that home is a special place a separate place a place where we can be our true selves is so obvious to us today that we barely pause to think about it but as judith flanders shows in her best and most ambitious work to date home is a relatively new idea in the making of home flanders traces the evolution of the house from the sixteenth to the early twentieth century across northern europe and america showing how the homes we know today bear only a faint resemblance to homes though history what turned a house into the concept of home why did northwestern europe a politically unimportant sociologically underdeveloped region of the world suddenly become the powerhouse of the industrial revolution the capitalist crucible that created modernity while investigating these important questions flanders uncovers the fascinating development of ordinary household items from cutlery chairs and curtains to the fitted kitchen plumbing and windows while also dismantling many domestic myths in this prodigiously researched and engagingly written book flanders brilliantly and elegantly draws together the threads of religion history economics technology and the arts to show not merely what happened but why it happened how we ended up in a world where we can all say like dorothy in oz there s no place like home excerpt from home building and furnishing being a combined new edition of model houses for little money and inside of 100 homes in presenting in book form the accompanying designs of houses which have appeared from time to time in the ladies home journal it is perhaps desirable that a word of explanation from me should accompany them the articles were designed to be of aid in the building of small homes the designing of which is too frequently left to builders or others ignorant of architecture as an art and not always skilled in using to the best advantage the space available in their magazine publication the articles found an acceptance as testified by the fact that over 500 houses were built in one year from the plans given it is hoped that in book form the plans may continue to prove of value to prospective house builders moreover it is hoped that they may stimulate the demand for good plans and so prove of benefit to architects at large for as has been urged in the articles they are in no sense intended to take the place of the services of a trained architect each house is a problem requiring the best skill of an expert none more so than the small house which must be inexpensive yet which is desired to be just as artistic as the largest about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works houses not skyscrapers museums or schools remained frank lloyd wright's favourite building type from the beginning to the end of his seventy year career as an architect when he started his practice near the close of the 19th century he saw a house as the embodiment of democracy and individual freedom your home had more capacity to spread well being he said than any cathedral or palace to him it was the centre of all family life as 50 favourite houses by frank lloyd wright shows his ideal home took on an amazing variety of forms from wright s 300 house designs that were eventually built this book visits fifty that have become world wide favourites here from the young architect s first period is his own home and studio in oak park illinois an architectural laboratory for him over two decades wright next ushered in the 20th century with his prairie house whose sheltering roofs and horizontal lines linked them to the earth classics such as the willits dana thomas and robie houses in the 1920s came revolutionary design in california built of textured concrete followed in the 1930s by the internationally renowned fallingwater and taliesin west each of the examples featured grew from wright s never changing principles that a house should be built with nature use materials and colours be designed from within have the consistency of a finely woven fabric achieve harmony through unity and be a work of art not just a house
