The Archaeology of Darkness 2016-05-31

through time people have lived with darkness archaeology shows us that over the whole human journey people have sought out dark places for burials for votive deposition and sometimes for retreat or religious ritual away from the wider community thirteen papers explore palaeolithic use of deep caves in europe and the orientation of mortuary monuments in the neolithic and bronze age it examines how the senses are affected in caves and monuments that were used for ritual activities from bronze age miners in wales working in dangerous subterranean settings to initiands in italian caves to a modern caver s experience of spending time in the one of the world s deepest caves in russia we see how darkness was and is viewed at northern latitudes where parts of the year are spent in eternal night and in easter island where darkness provided communal refuge from the pervasive sun we know that spending extended periods in darkness and silence can affect one physically emotionally and spiritually how did interactions between people and darkness affect individuals in the past and how were regarded by their communities and how did this interaction transform places in the landscape as the ever increasing electrification of the planet steadily minimizes the amount of darkness in our lives curiously darkness is coming more into focus this first collection of papers on the subject begins a conversation about the role of darkness in human experience through time this is a book about how on a cosmic and a personal level darkness gives way to light it does not sugar coat the reality of darkness but is full of hope reminding voyagers that light shines in the darkness that darkness is required to perceive light and that easter means the light has come life triumphs and the promised holy spirit will empower us for growth eastering these reflective prayerful poems are a ticket and passport for a spiritual journey and can be used in a daily discipline or with groups having resigned a professorship and chair in new testament studies bonnie thurston now lives quietly as a solitary near wheeling west virginia usa working as a spiritual director and retreat leader and volunteering in a food bank she is the author of over 20 books the disintegration of soviet union in 1991 led to five new countries gaining independence in central asia the muslims a predominant majority in the region had faced religious suppression under the rule of the communist thus began an era where islam was practiced with larger freedom however the governance of most of these states was with the autocratic leaders who had grown under the influence of communism therefore it was but natural for them to soon impose religious restrictions this close tussle in almost all these newly raised states led to emergence of some radical groups over the years the influence of such groups has spread to the extent of posing a threat to the stability of country like china a foothold for radical groups in china is a possibility as its western province of xinjiang has historical links with central asia and was part of turkistan today xinjiang due to its ethnic violence between the uyghur muslims and the han chinese is acknowledged to be quite volatile the link of uyghur s with central asia has further compounded china problem apart from the extremists china is also concerned regarding the growing american presence within the region of central asia to negate the american influence and restrain any turbulence on its western province supported by the extremist of central asia there is a need for china to review its external and internal policies which will steer it towards a more politically and economically stable nation failing to addresses such simmering issues the nation will be trapped within the folds of the invisible wall of china wenn jemand eine reise tut so kann er was erzählen so berichtet luca über seinen roadtrip mit dem motorrad von österreich nach slowenien leider scheint der riesige kerl vor ihm viel interessanter zu sein als der ausflug selbst felix beschreibt wien und seine sehenswürdigkeiten als ihm ein fremder über den weg läuft und aaron verbringt seinen urlaub am meer mit seiner familie anstatt seines schwärms nur tobias hätte eigentlich nicht viel zu sagen da er mit extremtouren in den bergen nichts am hut hat dennoch legen sie alle eine einzigartige erzählung ab die nicht nur jedes fernweh stillt sondern auch unter die haut geht in some respects the contrasts of christmas are what make it the most delightful time of the year it is a time of generosity kindness and peace on earth with broad permission to indulge in food drink and gifts on the other hand christmas has become a battleground for raging culture wars marred by debates about how it should be celebrated and acknowledged as a uniquely christian holiday this text argues that much of the animosity is based on a fundamental misunderstanding of the holiday s core character by tracing christmas s origins as a pagan celebration of the winter solstice and its development in europe s christianization this history explains that the true reason for the season has as much to do with the earth s movement around the sun as with the birth of christ chapters chronicle how christmas s magic and misrule link to the nativity and why the carnival side of the holiday appears so separated from traditional christian beliefs

US Infantryman in World War II (2) 2012-07-20

The German Army of World War II considered itself an offensive mobile force. The experiences in the trenches in World War I had done much to shape its concept of field fortification and its mobile warfare ethos was intended to prevent the previous war's stalemate. This book addresses frontline defensive field fortifications built by infantrymen using local materials and includes rifle platoon positions, trenches, crew served weapon positions, bunkers, dugouts, shelters and more. It also covers anti-tank and anti-personnel obstacles as well as field camouflage methods and construction methods. The integration of these positions into permanent systems and theatre specific defences are also discussed.
