when austrian soldiers first set foot in lombardy venetia in october 1813 they were greeted everywhere as liberators and friends in the spring of 1815 when joachim murat s efforts to establish a united italy ended in miserable failure and when the habsburgs announced the main features of the regime they intended to establish in their italian provinces the venetians were still strongly pro austrian but considerable anti habsburg feeling had developed among the lombards this carefully documented study of the first two years of austrian reoccupation of lombardy venetia examines all aspects of the habsburg provisional regimes and draws some conclusions about the reasons for the different attitudes in the two provinces in detailed sketches of the provisional governments of venetia chapter i and lombardy chapter ii and an examination of austrian economic policies and practices in both provinces chapter iii the author shows that although the governments of the two provinces shared many common traits they differed in a number of significant ways actually venetia was much less efficiently governed than lombardy and the lombards enjoyed at least a small measure of self administration that was largely denied the venetians the lombards were much more prosperous than their neighbors yet they paid much less in taxes and were exempt from most of the burdensome military requisitions that the austrians inflicted on the venetians in spite of these advantages the relatively small nationalist movement in austria s italian provinces was almost entirely confined to lombardy the author examines public opinion in lombardy venetia about liberal intrigues chapter iv the relationship of secret societies to liberalism chapter v the brescian milanese conspiracy chapter vi and the austrian handling of that affair chapter vii and the fiasco of joachim murat s war of italian independence chapter viii
