scientific essay from the year 2020 in the subject psychology personality psychology grade a language english abstract this word is a critique of the narcissistic personality inventory npi in terms of its reliability validity and other psychometric issues the narcissistic personality inventory npi is a test that was developed by raskin and hall 1979 in order to measure the personality trait of narcissism for research in social psychology it is the most commonly used test to measure narcissism in fact it is used in over 75 of studies on narcissism and is based on the definition found in the third edition of the diagnostic and statistical manual of mental disorders research suggests that there are two variants of narcissism grandiose narcissism which is characterized by arrogance over inflation of one's qualities such as talent or intelligence sense of entitlement as well as the tendency to denigrate others in order to boost their own self esteem vulnerable narcissism on the other hand is characterized by self inhibition and the desire for approval by others and emotional instability but vulnerable narcissists still have unrealistically high expectations of themselves such as the attainment of unlimited power and money and personal features such as beauty the npi was not meant to be used for diagnostic purposes that is for the clinical diagnosis of narcissistic personality disorder which is a mental illness characterized by an extremely fragile sense of self and significant life impairments this disorder is generally assessed by using other tests such as the pathological narcissism inventory pni the npi is intended to measure the normal sub clinical levels of narcissism that can be commonly found among the general population this means that even if an individual obtains a high score on the npi it may not mean that they have narcissistic personality disorder per se a practical and philosophical deep dive into humility how it can build confidence foster honesty about our strengths and limitations and help us achieve success daryl van tongeren is a leading researcher on the science of humility in humble he gives this unassuming trait a much needed rebrand explaining why the humble enjoy a more secure sense of self handle challenges better and indeed are often the people we like the most that s not to say van tongeren has mastered humility when he asked his wife to rate him on a scale from 1 to 10 she gave him a 4 but in a world where narcissism is on the rise where the shameless dominate social media and getting noticed is considered key to getting ahead it s not surprising that we all have a bit of work to do on our sometimes self sabotaging egos in its true sense humbleness is the happy medium between self denial and self obsession it grants the holder an accurate view of reality by seeing where we have room to improve we can grow by admitting our doubts we can learn and by acknowledging our own worldview as one among many we can truly connect with others despite our differences a thought provoking call to reexamine our values humble signals a paradigm shift from the self esteem movement run amok to a better world in which we lift up one another
