african cinema offers a distinctive contribution to world cinema with its unique expertise of neoliberal genealogy and its opposition to those ubiquitous logics that serve only to validate injustices and regression made in the name of managerial liberalism it provides a deft analysis of the common thread running through globalization free market fanaticism corporate greed and its asymmetrical economic dominance that naturalizes a global caste system this book shows that african cinema represents a powerful contribution to our understanding of neoliberalism s global dominance that generates shrinking security multiple recessions and endless austerity and a culture of permanent anxiety and precarity this collection of original essays challenges french centered conceptions of francophonie as the shaping force of the production and study of the french language literature culture film and art both inside and outside mainland france the traditional view of francophone cultural productions as offshoots of their hexagonal avatar is replaced by a pluricentric conception that reads interrelated aspects of francophonie as products of specific contexts conditions and local ecologies that emerged from post colonial encounters with france and other colonizing powers the twenty one papers grouped into six thematic parts focus on distinctive literary linguistic musical cinematographic and visual forms of expression in geographical areas long defined as the peripheries of the french speaking world the caribbean the indian ocean the maghreb sub saharan africa quebec and hexagonal cities with a preponderance of immigrant populations these contested sites of french collective identity offer a rich formulation of distinctly local francophone identities that do not fit in with concepts of linguistic and ethnic exclusiveness but are consistent with a pluralistic demographic shift and the true face of frenchness that is indeed plural
