what is reality most people in the modern world are ignorant of metaphysical realities not to mention the prevalence of semantic confusion and therefore wynand de beer aims to counter this ignorance and confusion he employs numerous insights from classical greek philosophy and traditional christian theology in order to discuss the various levels of reality ranging from the highest the divine to the lowest the material the author then deals with a range of philosophical and theological themes in the light of the preceding discussion these include well being and love time and eternity good and evil truth and knowledge and the survival of the soul beyond bodily death which is the only kind of immortality that human beings may attain a lengthy chapter also deals with the manifestation of higher levels of consciousness in religion mathematics and music in the later chapters of the book the author subjects salient aspects of the western sociocultural phenomenon known as political correctness to critical scrutiny in the process these ideologically driven and media promoted isms are contrasted with both hellenic and christian thought and the penetrating writings of traditionalist and or anti modernist thinkers from different parts of the world this unprecedented phenomenon were framed in economic the cultural interpretation of nazism and totalitarianism and in the psychological interpretation of hitler as a wagnerite and failed artist the term metapolitics a coinage from richard wagner s nationalist circle signifies an ideology resulting from five distinct strands romanticism embodied chiefly in the wagnerian ethos the pseudo science of race based on insight into foucault s lectures on biopolitics which consider the notion of neoliberalism for all future relationships between individuals and society and the state and the economy this book shows that the oligarchic model of politics and culture management today is a result of the rise and fall of mass political movements the ideologies of the end of the twentieth century with which neo liberalism perfectly establishes a balance are reflected in the combination of technoscience rational choice and individualism in this way the rule is reversed into a cybernetic market as a management model today transnational corporations control the states and their political subjects with sovereignty rendered an illusion by the obsolescence of the modern project since the post imperial order in the 21st century requires the expansion of power rather than the limitation of power this book aims to recast the way that philosophers understand rhetoric rather than follow most philosophers in conceiving rhetoric as a specific way of speaking or writing it shows that rhetoric is better understood as a dimension of all human discourse and action what the author calls rhetoricity this book provides the first philosophical treatment of rhetoricity it is motivated by two ongoing developments the first is the debate between alain badiou and barbara cassin about philosophy s relation to rhetoric both badiou and cassin are critical of rhetoric albeit for different reasons second there has been a growing resurgence of interest in rhetoric considering the recent rise in authoritarian politics as well as new forms of propaganda driven by persuasive technologies this book identifies the common target of badiou s and cassin s otherwise incompatible critiques rhetoric s conception of audience it post continental philosophy outlines the shift in continental thought over the last 20 years through the work of four central figures gilles deleuze alain badiou michel henry and françois laruelle though they follow seemingly different methodologies and agendas each insists on the need for a return to the category of immanence if philosophy is to have any future at all rejecting both the german phenomenological tradition of transcendence of the ego being consciousness alterity or flesh as well as the french structuralist valorisation of language they instead take the immanent categories of biology deleuze mathematics badiou affectivity henry and axiomatic science laruelle as focal points for a renewal of thought consequently continental philosophy is taken in a new direction that engages science and nature with a refreshingly critical and non reductive approach to life set theory embodiment and knowledge however each of these new philosophies still regards what the other is doing as a problem
