□□□□□□ 2005-11 there are well founded concerns that current air transportation systems will not be able to cope with their expected growth current processes procedures and technologies in aeronautical communications do not provide the flexibility needed to meet the growing demands aeronautical communications is seen as a major bottleneck stressing capacity limits in air transportation ongoing research projects are developing the fundamental methods concepts and technologies for future aeronautical communications that are required to enable higher capacities in air transportation the aim of this book is to edit the ensemble of newest contributions and research results in the field of future aeronautical communications the book gives the readers the opportunity to deepen and broaden their knowledge of this field today s and tomorrow s problems methods in the field of aeronautical communications are treated current trends are identified ipv6 aeronautical network aspect are covered challenges for the satellite component are illustrated aeromacs and ldacs as future data links are investigated and visions for aeronautical communications are formulated

Challenges, Opportunities and Solutions in Structural Engineering and Construction 2009-10-29 in december 2004 the national academy of sciences sponsored a colloquium on systematics and the origin of species to celebrate ernst mayr s 100th anniversary and to explore current knowledge concerning the origin of species in 1942 ernst mayr one of the twentieth century s greatest scientists published systematics and the origin of species a seminal book of the modern theory of evolution where he advanced the significance of population variation in the understanding of evolutionary process and the origin of new species mayr formulated the transition from linnaeus s static species concept to the dynamic species concept of the modern theory of evolution and emphasized the species as a community of populations the role of reproductive isolation and the ecological interactions between species in addition to a preceding essay by edward o wilson this book includes the 16 papers presented by distinguished evolutionists at the colloquium the papers are organized into sections covering the origins of species barriers the processes of species divergence the nature of species the meaning of species and genomic approaches for understanding diversity and speciation

Cassini at Saturn 2007-03-08 this book discusses the main legal questions raised by free and open source software foss licenses and other alternative license models such as creative commons the legal questions raised by foss and other alternative licenses have been the subject of an intense international debate among legal scholars and practising lawyers in the last years courts in different jurisdictions have confirmed that the core features of foss licenses are compliant with the respective applicable laws and thus enforceable in the respective jurisdictions what is still missing so far is an in depth comparative analysis of the legal issues raised by foss creative commons and other alternative license on a worldwide scale this book presents a general report on foss licenses and alternative license models to establish common ground and enable comparison between jurisdictions the general report is followed by 24 national reports covering the world s most important it markets general and national reports use the same structure to facilitate the comparison the book shows that despite the differences in their origins all foss projects use detailed licenses for the organisation of their communities it also shows the differences in the proofing of these licenses by courts in some jurisdictions and the tailor made provisions established by some legislators to solve the legal issues raised by the license model

Future Aeronautical Communications 2005 gifts a study in comparative law is the first broad based study of the law governing the giving and revocation of gifts ever attempted gift giving is everywhere governed by social and customary norms before it encounters the law and the giving of gifts takes place largely outside of the marketplace as a result of these two characteristics the law of gifts provides an optimal lens through which to examine how different legal systems engage with social practice the law of gifts is well developed both in the civil and the common laws richard hyland s study provides an excellent view of the ways in which different civil and common law jurisdictions confront common issues the legal systems discussed include principally in the common law those of great britain the united states and india and in the civil law the private law systems of belgium and france germany italy and spain professor hyland also serves a critique of the dominant method in the field which is a form of functionalism based on what is called the praesumptio similitudinis namely the axiom that once legal doctrine is stripped away developed legal systems tend to reach similar practical results his study demonstrates to the contrary that legal systems actually differ not only in their approach and conceptual structure but just as much in the results

Index of Specifications and Standards 1985 the application of international law by domestic courts has gained increasing attention in recent years in an ever more interconnected world domestic courts now make reference to judgments by foreign courts when faced with similar or identical legal problems involving international law their judgments see increasing recognition of their pivotal role in shaping and interpreting international law understanding them will be of use for any practitioner and scholar in international law international law in domestic courts oxford s online collection of domestic court decisions which apply international law has been providing scholars with at your fingertips access to analysis and commentary for more than a decade first established in 2006 it now includes over 1 700 judgments of cases involving international law related aspects from nearly 100 countries and continues to expand this casebook is the perfect companion presenting a selection of the most important cases along with a commentary to give a holistic overview of the use of international law in national courts and how the jurisprudence has developed international law itself practitioners students and academics will find this an invaluable resource when faced with the complex questions of applying international law in domestic courts

The Compiled Laws, 1913, State of South Dakota 2005-09-28 the criminal law on serious traffic offenses presents legislators with numerous controversial issues one such issue is when severe consequences are matched with low moral culpability how should the law deal with a driver who kills someone because she failed to see the person when looking another controversial issue concerns highly culpable behavior that remains without serious consequences how should the law cope with a driver who nearly kills someone when overtaking recklessly the traffic context generates many hard cases that call the outermost boundaries of general doctrinal concepts like intent negligence or causation into question this book contains an international collection of essays on criminal liability for serious traffic offenses with a focus on england wales the netherlands france germany and spain the book reveals that there are enormous differences in both drafting and interpretation of serious traffic offenses additionally it elaborates on the role of culpability and harm in sentencing traffic psychological insights relevant to accident causation and the concept of conditional intent in relation to extremely dangerous traffic behavior series governance recht vol 11 subject criminal law traffic law comparative law

Systematics and the Origin of Species 2015-11-30 paolo ulivi and david harland provide in robotic exploration of the solar system a detailed history of unmanned missions of exploration of our solar system the subject is treated from an engineering and scientific standpoint technical descriptions of the spacecraft of their mission designs and of instrumentations are provided scientific results are discussed in considerable depth together with details of mission management the project will deliver four volumes totaling over 2 000 pages that will provide comprehensive coverage of the topic with thousands of references to the professional literature that should make it the first port of call for people seeking information on the topic the books will cover missions from the 1950s until the present day and some of the latest missions and their results will appear in a popular science book for the first time

Free and Open Source Software (FOSS) and other Alternative License Models 2005-02 intercellular communication is part of a complex system of communication that governs basic cellular activities and coordinates cell actions the ability of cells to perceive and correctly respond to their environment is the basis of growth and development tissue repair and immunity as well as normal tissue homeostasis errors in cellular information processing are responsible for diseases such as cancer autoimmunity diabetes and neurological and psychiatric disorders there is substantial drug development concentrating on this and intercellular communication is the basis of much of neuropharmacology by understanding cell signaling diseases may be treated effectively and theoretically artificial tissues may be yielded neurotransmitters receptors synaptic structure and organization gap junctions neurotrophic factors and neuropeptides are all explored in this volume as are the ways in which signaling controls neuroendocrinology neuroimmunology and neuropharmacology intercellular communication in the nervous system provides a valuable desk reference for all scientists who consider signaling chapters offer impressive scope with topics addressing neurotransmitters receptors synaptic structure and organization neuropeptides gap junctions neuropharmacology and more richly illustrated in full color with over 200 figures contributors represent the most outstanding scholarship in the field with each chapter providing fully vetted and reliable expert knowledge

□□□□□□ 1995 the world appears to be globalising economically technologically and even to a halting extent politically this process of globalisation raises the possibility of an international legal framework a possibility which has gained pressing relevance in the wake of the recent global economic crisis but for any international legal framework to exist normative agreement between countries with very different political economic cultural and legal traditions becomes necessary this work explores the possibility of such a normative agreement through the prism of national constitutional norms since 1945 more than a hundred countries have adopted constitutional texts which incorporate at least in part a bill of rights these texts reveal significant similarities the canadian charter of rights and freedoms for instance had a marked influence on the drafting of the bill of rights for south africa new zealand and hong kong as well as the basic law of israel similarly the drafts of eastern european constitutions reflect significant borrowing from older texts the essays in this book examine the depth of these similarities in particular the extent to which textual borrowings point to the development of foundational values in these different national legal systems and the extent of the similarities or differences between these values and the priorities accorded to them from these national studies the work analyses the rise of constitutionalism since the second world war and charts the possibility of a consensus on values which might plausibly underpin an effective and legitimate international legal order
