Bulletin of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics 1997. Everyone knows Frank Herbert's Dune. This amazing and complex epic combining politics, religion, human evolution, and ecology has captured the imagination of generations of readers. One of the most popular science fiction novels ever written, it has become a worldwide phenomenon, winning awards, selling millions of copies around the world. In the prophetic year of 1984, Dune was made into a motion picture directed by David Lynch, and it has recently been produced as a three-part miniseries on the Sci-Fi Channel. Though he is best remembered for Dune, Frank Herbert was the author of more than twenty books at the time of his tragic death in 1986, including such classic novels as The Green Brain, The Santaroga Barrier, The White Plague, and Dosadi Experiment. Brian Herbert, Frank Herbert's eldest son, tells dougllass prize in europeanist anthropology the emergence of an islamist movement and the startling buoyancy of islamic political parties in turkey a model of secular modernization a cosmopolitan frontier and nato ally has puzzled western observers as the appeal of the islamist welfare party spread through turkish society including the middle class in the 1990s the party won numerous local elections and became one of the largest parties represented in parliament even holding the prime ministership in 1996 and 1997 welfare was formally banned and closed in 1998 and its successor virtue was banned in 2001 for allegedly posing a threat to the state but the islamist movement continues to grow in popularity jenny white has produced an ethnography of contemporary istanbul that charts the success of islamist mobilization through the eyes of ordinary people drawing on neighborhood interviews gathered over twenty years of fieldwork she focuses intently on the genesis and continuing appeal of islamic politics in the fabric of turkish society and among mobilizing and mobilized elites women and educated populations white shows how everyday concerns and interpersonal relations rather than islamic dogma helped welfare gain access to community networks building on continuing face to face relationships by way of interactions with constituents through trusted neighbors she argues that islamic political networks are based on cultural understandings of relationships duties and trust she also illustrates how islamic activists have sustained cohesion despite contradictory agendas and beliefs and how civic organizations through local relationships have ensured the autonomy of these networks from the national political organizations in whose service they appear to act to illuminate the local culture of Istanbul White has interviewed residents activists party officials and municipal administrators and participated in their activities she draws on rich experiences and research made possible by years of firsthand observation in the streets and homes of Umraniye a large neighborhood that grew in tandem with Turkey's modernization in the late 20th century this book will appeal to anthropologists sociologists historians and analysts of Islamic and Middle Eastern politics Jenny B. White is associate professor of anthropology at Boston University

Manual of Examinations for the ... 1902 in December 1998 San Antonio Express News reporter Philip True vanished during a solo backcountry trek in western Mexico home of the reclusive Huichol Indians and the Chapalagana the twisted serpent canyon a 150 mile long gash that twists and plunges through the heart of the Sierra Madre five days later his editor Robert Rivard was part of a small search party that nearly miraculously tracked a trail of feathers that had leaked from True's sleeping bag to find his body trail of feathers is the story of the search for True and of the quest to bring his killers to justice it is also the story of another perplexing mystery why had True taken such a dangerous trip into such a raw uncivilized wilderness alone and without sufficient safety preparations in the first place after an unhappy and unsettled youth true was at the age of fifty finally settling down to a career and a wife he loved his first child was about to be born what was he running from or to rivard s search for answers to these questions leads him deep into the sierra madre occidental one of mexico s last true wildernesses and deep into the secrets of philip true s past it also leads him into his own past and an acknowledgment of the ways in which his life and true s mirrored each other suspenseful atmospheric and moving trail of feathers is more than a true crime tale it s a classic tragedy about how the past reverberates destructively into the present for individuals for cultures for nations
