after a decade of major technical and theoretical advancements in the area the scope for exploitation of database technology has never been greater neither has the challenge this volume contains the proceedings of the 17th british national conference on databases bncod 2000 held at the university of exeter in july 2000 in selecting the quality papers presented here the programme committee was particularly interested in the demands being made on the technology by emerging application areas including web applications push technology multimedia data and data warehousing the concern remains the same satisfaction of user requirements on quality and performance however with increasing demand for timely access to heterogeneous data distributed on an unregulated internet new challenges are presented our three invited speakers develop the theme for the conference considering new dimensions concerning user requirements in accessing distributed heterogeneous information sources in the first paper presented here gio wiederhold reflects on the tension between requirements for on the one hand precision and relevance and on the other completeness and recall in relating data from heterogeneous resources in resolving this tension in favour of the former he maintains that this will fundamentally affect future research directions sharma chakravarthy adds another dimension to the requirement on information namely timeliness he shares a vision of just in time information delivered by a push technology based on reactive capabilities he maintains that this requires a paradigm shift to a user centric view of information abstract state machines asm sharpen the church turing thesis by the consideration of bounded resources for computing devices they view computations as an evolution of a state it has been shown that all known models of computation can be expressed through specific abstract state machines these models can be given in a representation independent way that is one advantage of transferring these models to asm the main advantage is however to provide a unifying theory to all of these models at the same time asm can be related to other asms stepwise refinement supports separation of concern during software development and will support component based construction of systems thus providing a foundation of new computational paradigms such as industrial programming programming in the large and programming in the world asm 2004 continued the success story of the asm workshops previous workshops were held in the following european cities taormina italy 2003 dagstuhl germany 2002 las palmas de gran canaria spain 2001 monte verita switzerland 2000 toulouse france 1999 magdeburg germany 1998 cannes france 1998 1997 paderborn germany 1996 and h burg germany 1994 the asm workshops have had predecessors e g the famous lipari summer school in 1993 whose in uential outcome was the f damental lipari guide
