all adult speakers in western cultures have life stories argues charlotte linde and the ways in which these life stories are formed and exchanged with others have a powerful effect on all of us life stories express our sense of self who we are and how we got that way according to linde we also use these stories to show that our lives can be understood as coherent and to assert or negotiate group membership these life stories take part in the highest level of social constructions since they are built on cultural assumptions about what is expected in a life what the norms for a successful life are and what common or special belief systems are necessary to establish coherence the life story illuminated by this engrossing study is a form of everyday discourse which has not previously been precisely defined or studied it is an oral discontinuous unit consisting of stories which are retold in a variety of forms over a long period of time and which may be revised and changed as the speaker comes to drop old on the thought of poets and many other philosophers especially hegel s phenomenology of spirit nietzsche s analysis of nihilism and derrida s writings on language kleinberg levin shows how because of its communicative and revelatory powers language bears the utopian promise of happiness the idea of a secular redemption of humanity at the very heart of which must be the achievement of universal justice in an original reading of beckett s plays novels and short stories kleinberg levin shows how despite inheriting a language damaged corrupted and commodified beckett redeems dead or dying words and wrests from this language new possibilities for the expression of meaning without denying beckett s nihilism his picture of a radically disenchanting world kleinberg levin calls attention to moments when his words suddenly ignite and break free of their despair and pain taking shape in the beauty of an austere yet joyous lyricism suggesting that after all meaning is still possible
