of a transregional approach in north america tourism and cultural change in costa rica pitfalls and possibilities examines the consequences positive negative and otherwise of tourism in four different sites in costa rica this open access book uncovers one important yet forgotten form of itinerant livelihoods namely petty trade more specifically how it was practiced in northern europe during the period 1820 1960 it investigates how traders and customers interacted in different spaces and approaches ambulatory trade as an arena of encounters by looking at everyday social practices petty traders often belonged to subjugated social groups like ethnic minorities and migrants whereas their customers belonged to the resident population how were these mobile traders perceived and described what goods did they peddle how did these commodities enable and shape trading encounters what kind of narratives can be found and whose these questions pertaining to daily practices on a grass root level have not been addressed in previous research encounters and practices embarks on hidden histories of survival vulnerability and conflict but also discloses reciprocal relations even friendships in this revealing comparative study mark findlay examines the problematic nexus between undervalued labour and vulnerable migration status in dis embedded markets it highlights the frustrations raised by timeless regulatory failure and the chronic complicity of private property arrangements in delivering unsustainable market engagement mark findlay identifies the challenge for normative and functional foundations of equitable governance by repositioning regulatory principle to restore dignity to market relations the accountability of property through wider access and inclusion it is argued grounds commodified occupation as a vitally valuable social bond in which workers are empowered to participate rather than suffer exploitation the comparative analysis of the eu and asean regulatory contexts reveals that it is not simply more regulatory activity but rather its reversion from market interests to human values which will advance sustainability property labour and legal regulation offers an insightful critical analysis of crucial contemporary issues facing social administrators lawyers and policy makers working in the fields of migration labour law and regulation its broad disciplinary coverage lends itself to students of law and regulation who will benefit from this unique evaluation of private property labour relations and migration exclusivity covers receipts and expenditures of appropriations and other funds finally the truth about the rise of the west modernity developed only in the west in europe and north america nowhere else did science and democracy arise nowhere else was slavery outlawed only westerners invented chimneys musical scores telescopes eyeglasses pianos electric lights aspirin and soap the question is why unfortunately that question has become so politically incorrect that most scholars avoid it but acclaimed author rodney stark provides the answers in this sweeping new look at western civilization how the west won demonstrates the primacy of uniquely western ideas among them the belief in free will the commitment to the pursuit of knowledge the notion that the universe functions according to rational rules that can be discovered and the emphasis on human freedom and secure property rights taking readers on a thrilling journey from ancient greece to the present stark challenges much of the received wisdom about western history stark also debunks absurd fabrications that have flourished in the past few decades that the greeks stole their culture from africa that the west's discoveries were copied from the chinese and muslims that europe became rich by plundering the non western world at the same time he reveals the woeful inadequacy of recent attempts to attribute the rise of the west to purely material causes favorable climates abundant natural resources guns and steel how the west won displays rodney stark's gifts for lively narrative history and making the latest scholarship accessible to all readers this bold insightful book will force you to rethink your understanding of the west and the birth of modernity and to recognize that western civilization really has set itself apart from other cultures digital technologies have transformed the way many creative works are generated disseminated and used they have made cultural products more accessible challenged established business models and the copyright system and blurred the boundary between what is the relevance of luc boltanski's pragmatic sociology of critique to central issues in contemporary social and political analysis in seeking to respond to this question this book contains critical commentaries from prominent social theorists attempting to map out the influence and broad scope of boltanski's oeuvre this book demonstrates how people were kept ignorant by censorship and indoctrinated by propaganda censorship suppressed all information that criticized the army and government that might trouble the population or weaken its morale propaganda at home emphasized the superiority of the fatherland explained setbacks by blaming scapegoats vilified and ridiculed the enemy warned of the disastrous consequences of defeat and extolled duty and sacrifice the propaganda message also infiltrated entertainment and the visual arts abroad it aimed to demoralize enemy troops and stir up unrest among national minorities and other marginalized groups the many illustrations and organograms provide a clear visual demonstration of demm's argument the financial crisis that started in 2007 is a concern for the world some countries are in depression and governments are desperately trying to find solutions in the absence of thorough debate on the emotions of money bitter disputes hatred and moralizing can be misunderstood new perspectives on emotions in finance carefully considers emotions often left unacknowledged in order to explain the socially useful versus de civilising destructive nature of money this book offers an understanding of money that includes the possible civilising sentiments this interdisciplinary volume examines what is seemingly an uncontrollable fragile world of finance and explains the panics of traders and immoral panics in banking confidence of government and commercial decision makers shame or cynicism of investors and asymmetries of impersonal trust between finance corporations and their many publics money is shown to rely on this abstract trust or faith but such motivations are in crisis with angry conflicts over the power of disposition restraining influences on uncivilised emotions and rule breaking need democratic consensus due to enduring national differences in economic sentiments even in ostensibly similar countries promising ideas for global reform are assessed from these cautionary interpretations instead of one correct vision sociologists in this book argue that corporations and global dependencies are driven by fears and normless sentiments which foster betrayal this book is not about individuals but habitus and market crudities human nature or greed cannot describe banks which do not feel because their motivations are not from personal psyches but organisational pressures and are liable to switch under money's inevitable uncertainties this more inclusive social science studies emotions as a crucial factor among others to expand the informed public debate among policy makers bankers academics students and the public baptizing business sifts through popular perceptions regarding the relationship between business and religion and the agenda of conservative christian business leaders drawing on personal interviews with the most diverse group of evangelical executives yet studied while stereotypes and previous research both emphasize the perceived incompatibility of religious mandates and business objectives bradley c smith argues that evangelical executives experience tension not because business and religion are inherently opposed but because they are made to feel like second class citizens by members of their own faith communities indeed in cases of apparent conflict between faith and business evangelical executives insist that it is faith not business that must be reconceived smith reveals that evangelical business leaders are as inclined to export business concepts into other domains as to import religious objectives into business contexts prompting us to reconsider the direction of influence between religious and economic life baptizing business is filled with compelling stories that paint a nuanced unbiased picture of the increasing influence of intensely religious business leaders the spirit of capitalism defined by max weber as a positive attitude toward work and wealth finds ongoing embrace and new expression in evangelical executives and their accounts with implications for our understanding of the faith at work movement evangelicalism and the role of religion among elites a groundbreaking volume from leading scholars exploring disability studies using a political theory approach a sweeping history of the often violent conflict between islam and the west shedding a revealing light on current hostilities the west and islam the sword and scimitar have clashed since the mid seventh century when according to muslim tradition the roman emperor rejected prophet muhammad's order to abandon christianity and convert to islam unleashing a centuries long jihad on christendom sword and scimitar chronicles the decisive battles that arose from this ages old islamic jihad beginning with the first major islamic attack on christian land in 636 through the muslim occupation of nearly three quarters of christendom which prompted the crusades followed by renewed muslim conquests by turks and tatars to the european colonization of the muslim world in the 1800s when islam largely went on the retreat until its reemergence in recent times using original sources in arabic and greek preeminent historian raymond ibrahim describes each battle in vivid detail and explains how these wars and the larger historical currents of the age reflect the cultural fault lines between islam and the west the majority of these landmark battles including the battles of yarmuk tours manzikert the sieges at constantinople and vienna and the crusades in syria and spain are now forgotten or considered inconsequential yet today as the west faces a resurgence of this enduring islamic jihad sword and scimitar provides the needed historical context to understand the current relationship between the west and the islamic world and why the islamic state is merely the latest chapter of an old history this book presents a comprehensive compilation of registration requirements necessary for authorisation of biological control agents viruses bacteria fungi active substances of natural origin and semiochemicals in oecd countries it also reviews data requirements for invertebrate agents insect mites and nematodes and provides proposals for harmonisation of the regulation process and guidelines for completion of application forms based on results of the eu rebecca policy support action which gathered experts from academia regulation authorities and industry risks and benefits of the specific agents were reviewed and proposals for a more balanced registration process elaborated including recommendations for acceleration of the authorisation process and discussions on trade off effects and policy impacts all these aspects are covered in detail in this book which points the way forward for enhanced utilisation of biological control agents climate change is one of the most pressing problems facing the global community although most states agree that climate change is occurring and is at least partly the result of humans reliance on fossil fuels managing a changing global climate is a formidable challenge underlying this challenge is the fact that states are sovereign governed by their own laws and regulations sovereignty requires that states address global problems such as climate change on a voluntary basis by negotiating international agreements despite a consensus on the need for global action many questions remain concerning how a meaningful international climate agreement can be realized this book brings together leading experts to speak to such questions and to offer promising ideas for the path toward a new climate agreement organized in three main parts it examines the potential for meaningful climate cooperation part 1 explores sources of conflict that lead to barriers to an effective climate agreement part 2 investigates how different processes influence states prospects of resolving their differences and of reaching a climate agreement that is more effective than the current kyoto protocol finally part 3 focuses on governance issues including lessons learned from existing institutional structures the book is unique in that it brings together the voices of experts from many disciplines such as economics political science international law and natural science the authors are academics practitioners consultants and advisors contributions draw on a variety of methods and include both theoretical and empirical studies the book should be of interest to scholars and graduate students in the fields of economics political science environmental law natural resources earth sciences sustainability and many others it is directly relevant for policy makers stakeholders and climate change negotiators offering insights into the role of uncertainty fairness policy linkage burden sharing and alternative institutional designs headed by the slogan design thinking a debate has unfolded over the last ten years about design methods which goes far beyond the specialist boundaries of design disciplines executives and business owners today recognize the potential for economic innovation lying in the creative and analytical mindset of designers the extensive literature available on design thinking focuses on the methodology of the design process while the conditions necessary to spark innovation processes in the first place have long remained more or less unnoticed driving desired futures starts here and asks how established innovations arise from a simple idea what criteria are mostly likely to be the basis from which the ideas of an individual can take hold in a social system what are conditions under which they can become incorporated into a diverse group of people what topics induce managers to choose and then to invest in a specific idea questions such as these are pursued in international contributions by renowned experts using the first digital camera as a case study they identify the individual and social processes associated with the exchange and implementation of new ideas winner of the 2015 auburn authors awards where is higher education as a field of study going in this century how will higher education program leaders design and sustain their degree programs vitality in the face of perennial challenges from inside and outside the academy while in 1979 the council for the advancement of standards in higher education has defined standards for student affairs master s level preparation and while 2010 saw the adoption of guidelines for higher education administration and leadership preparation programs at the master s degree level there still are however no guidelines that address higher education leadership doctoral programs despite increasing demands for assessment and evaluation this book suggests that higher education administration doctoral degree guidelines are a critical next step in advancing their program quality and continuity it offers a review of the field s history the condition of its higher education programs developments from the student affairs specialization and its guidelines and a multi chapter dialogue on the benefits or disadvantages of having guidelines at a time of urgency to prepare the next generation of higher education faculty and leaders this book sets out the parameters for the debate about what the guidelines should cover to ensure the appropriate and effective preparation of students it also offers a useful framework for enriching the knowledge of deans
