resemblance and reality in greek thought follows the construction of reality from homer into the hellenistic era and beyond not only in didactic poetry or philosophical works but in practically all genres from the time of homer onwards greek literature has shown an awareness of the relationship between verbal art and the social historical or cultural reality that produces it an awareness that this relationship is an approximate one at best and a distorting one at worst this central theme of resemblance and its relationship to reality draws together essays on a range of greek authors and shows how they are unified or allied in posing similar questions to classical literature
