Debates of Parliament 1999

with the stagnation of the doha round of multilateral talks trade liberalisation is increasingly undertaken through free trade agreements gabriel siles brügge examines the eu s decision following the 2006 global europe strategy to negotiate such agreements with emerging economies eschewing the purely materialist explanations prominent in the field he develops a novel constructivist argument to highlight the role of language and ideas in shaping eu trade policy drawing on extensive interviews and documentary analysis siles brügge shows how eu trade policymakers have privileged the interests of exporters to the detriment of import competing groups creating an ideational imperative for market opening even during the on going economic crisis the overriding mantra has been that the eu s future well being depends on its ability to compete in global markets the increasingly neoliberal orientation of eu trade policy has also had important consequences for its economic diplomacy with the developing economies of the african caribbean and pacific group of states

Exchange Rate Theory and Practice 1987

the institutional shortcomings of the world trade organization wto became apparent during the doha round of trade negotiations that began in 2001 and which aimed to improve the success of developing countries trading by lowering trade barriers and adjusting other trade rules this development agenda meant different things to rich and poor countries in addition many of the circumstances that supported success in general agreement on tariffs and trade gatt negotiations of 1947 were no longer present after the wto was founded in 1995 in reconstructing the world trade organization for the 21st century kent jones examines the difficulties of the wto in completing multilateral trade negotiations and possible ways to restore its ability to do so the problem lies in the institutional structure it inherited from the gatt which was designed for a more limited scope of trade negotiations among a relatively small number of wealthier industrialized countries jones presents an institutional model of the gatt wto system which describes why such an organization exists and how it is supposed to accomplish its goals institutional reforms will be necessary to restore the wto s ability to complete global trade agreements including a more flexible application of the consensus rule a common understanding among all members about the limits of domestic policy space that is subject to negotiation and clearer rules on reciprocity obligations the popularity of bilateral and regional trade agreements which have emerged as the alternative to wto agreements presents a threat to the wto s relevance in trade negotiations but also an opportunity to multilateralize new and deeper trade integration in future wto agreements aid for trade may also play an instrumental role in bringing more developing countries into wto disciplines above all wto members must develop new ways to find common ground in order to negotiate for mutual gains from trade
