atlantic afterlives in contemporary fiction offers fresh readings of what has been called transatlantic literature in selected twentieth and twenty first century texts it discovers a shift from oceanic place based knowledge to an atmospheric placeless circulation of information consonant with the displacements of the information age this book reads contemporary narrative as it imagines and navigates today s virtual spaces an important conclusion of the book is that intellectual resources are finite and should be used sustainably thus arguing against a conventional comparative approach this book proposes reading practices that resist the tendency toward an oversupply of reworked literary contexts that seems bent on matching the reach of the world wide instead the book reimagines place as a practice in the way it is communicated and narrated ultimately this book empowers the reader to reimagine a future for narrative in the information age
