rich history of the white house grounds revealing how the story of the garden is also the story of america the 18 acres surrounding the white house have been an unwitting witness to history kings and queens have dined there bills and treaties have been signed and presidents have landed and retreated throughout it all the grounds have remained not only beautiful but also a powerful reflection of american trends in all the presidents gardens bestselling author marta mcdowell tells the untold history of the white house grounds with historical and contemporary photographs vintage seeds catalogs and rare glimpses into presidential pastimes history buffs will revel in the fascinating tidbits about lincoln s goats ike s putting green jackie s iconic roses amy carter s tree house and trump s controversial renovations gardeners will enjoy the information on the plants whose favor has come and gone over the years and the gardeners who have been responsible for it all as one head gardener put it what s great about the job is that our trees our plants our shrubs know nothing about politics in such popular television series as the west wing and 24 in thrillers like tom clancy s novels and in recent films plays graphic novels and internet cartoons america has been led by an amazing variety of chief executives some of these are real presidents who have been fictionally reimagined others are might have beens like philip roth s president charles lindbergh many more have never existed except in some storyteller s mind in the presidents we imagine jeff smith examines the presidency s ever changing place in the american imagination ranging across different media and analyzing works of many kinds some familiar and some never before studied he explores the evolution of presidential fictions their central themes the impact on them of new and emerging media and their largely unexamined role in the nation s real politics smith traces fictions of the presidency from the plays and polemics of the eighteenth century when the new office was born in what alexander hamilton called the regions of fiction to the digital products of the twenty first century with their seemingly limitless user defined ways of imagining the world s most important political figure students of american culture and politics as well as readers interested in political fiction and film will find here a colorful indispensable guide to the many surprising ways americans have been representing presidents even as those presidents have represented them especially timely in an era when media image mongering increasingly shapes presidential politics paul s boyer series editor smith's understanding of the sociopolitical realities of us history is impressive likewise his interpretations of works of literature and popular culture in addition to presenting thoughtful analysis the book is also fun readers will enjoy encounters with for example the beggar's opera duck soup edward bellamy's looking backward philip roth's plot against america the comedic campaigns of w c fields for president and pogo for president and presidential fictions that continue up to the last president bush his writing is fluid and conversational but every page reveals deep understanding and focus summing up highly recommended all readers choice the appendix contains four studies in the district of columbia one on police one on offenders one on corrections and one on delinquency the first study a survey of the metropolitan police department reviews the management administration and operations of the department it examines the traffic investigation and youth functions as well as records management communications buildings and equipment and police community relations the second study a description of active juvenile offenders and convicted adult felons in the district of columbia characterizes criminals by factors such as family background location of residence employment history and personal data the third study the organization and effectiveness of the correctional agencies discusses the functions and problems of the department of corrections and the parole and probation agencies the final study analyzes the social environment and delinquency in the district of columbia
