this volume is a collection of the nobel lectures delivered by the prizewinners together with their biographies and the presentation speeches by nobel committee members for the period 2006 2010 the criterion for the physics award is to the discoverer of a physical phenomenon that changed our views or to the inventor of a new physical process that gave enormous benefits to either science at large or to the public the biographies are remarkably interesting to read and the nobel lectures provide detailed explanations of the phenomena for which the laureates were awarded the nobel prize aspiring young scientists as well as more experienced ones but also the interested public will learn a lot from and appreciate the geniuses of these narrations list of prizewinners and their discoveries 2006 to john c mather and

george f smoot for their discovery of the blackbody form and anisotropy of the cosmic microwave background radiation the very detailed observations that the laureates have carried out from the coBE satellite have played a major role in the development of modern cosmology into a precise science 2007 to albert fert and peter grünberg for the discovery of giant magnetoresistance applications of this phenomenon have revolutionized techniques for retrieving data from hard disks the discovery also plays a major role in various magnetic sensors as well as for the development of a new generation of electronics the use of giant magnetoresistance can be regarded as one of the first major applications of nanotechnology 2008 to yoichiro nambu for the discovery of the mechanism of spontaneous broken symmetry in subatomic physics and to makoto kobayashi and toshihide maskawa for the discovery of the origin of the broken symmetry which predicts the existence of at least three families of quarks in nature why is there something instead of nothing why are there so many different elementary particles the laureates presented theoretical insights that give us a deeper understanding of what happens far inside the tiniest building blocks of matter 2009 to charles kuen kao for groundbreaking achievements concerning the transmission of light in fibers for optical communication and to willard s boyle and george e smith for the invention of an imaging semiconductor circuit the ccd sensor kao s discoveries have paved the way for optical fiber technology which today is used for almost all telephony and data communication boyle and smith have invented a digital image sensor ccd or charge coupled device which today has become an electronic eye in almost all areas of photography 2010 to andre geim and konstantin novoselov for groundbreaking experiments regarding the two dimensional material graphene the laureates have shown that a thin flake of ordinary carbon just one atom thick has exceptional properties that originate from the remarkable world of quantum physics seamus heaney s nobel lecture captured here in crediting poetry is a powerful defense of poetry as the ship and the anchor of our spirit within an ocean of violent divisive politics and world sorrow beginning with the creaturely existence of his childhood in a thatched farmstead in rural county derry heaney traces his path in the wideness of language it is a way forged by listening to the burbles and squeaks of bbc and radio eireann from a wireless speaker to the triple rhyme in a line of yeats but also to the sound of gunfire in ulster and the keening desolation of all the wounded spots on the face of the earth out of all these sounds heaney discovers the necessity of poetic order an order where we can at last grow up to that which we stored up as we grew it is poetry s ability to convey the forces of the marvelous and the murderous together heaney writes that gives it at once a buoyancy and a holding and persuades us of its truth to life heaney s lecture not only finds a way of crediting poetry without anxiety or apology but it persuades us eloquently and gracefully of the rightness and thereness of our veritable human being on december 7 2010 mario vargas llosa was awarded the nobel prize in literature his nobel llecture is a resounding tribute to fiction s power to inspire readers to greater ambition to dissent and to political action we would be worse than we are without the good books we have read more conformist not as restless more submissive and the critical spirit the engine of progress would not even exist vargas llosa writes like writing reading is a protest against the insufficiencies of life when we look in fiction for what is missing in life we are saying with no need to say it or even to know it that life as it is does not satisfy our thirst for the absolute the foundation of the human condition and should be better vargas llosa s lecture is a powerful argument for the necessity of literature in our lives today for as he eloquently writes literature not only submerges us in the dream of beauty and happiness but alerts us to every kind of oppression in this book jay nordlinger gives a history of what the subtitle calls the most famous and controversial prize in the world the nobel peace prize like the other nobel prizes began in 1901 so we have a neat sweeping history of the 20th century and about a decade beyond the nobel prize involves a first world war a second world war a cold war a terror war and more it contends with many of the key issues of modern times and of life itself it also presents a parade of interesting people more than a hundred laureates not a dullard in the bunch some of these laureates have been historic statesmen such as roosevelt teddy and mandela some have been heroes or saints such as martin luther king and mother teresa some belong in other categories where would you place arafat controversies also swirl around the awards to kissinger gorbachev gore and obama to name just a handful probably no figure in this book is more interesting than a non laureate alfred nobel the swedish scientist and entrepreneur who started the prizes the book also addresses missing laureates people who did not win the peace prize but might have or should have gandhi peace they say is enlightening and enriching and sometimes even fun it has its opinions but it also provides what is necessary for readers to form their own opinions what is peace anyway all these people who have been crowned champions of peace and the world s foremost should they have been such is the stuff this book is made on
