winner of the national book award the long awaited novel from the author of the acclaimed collection jenny and the jaws of life is an unusual and wonderful novel that is somehow able to be at once bleak and hilarious light hearted and profound it s the story of two sisters abigail mather is a woman of enormous appetites sexual and otherwise her fraternal twin dorcas couldn t be more different she gave up on sex without once trying it and she lives a controlled dignified life of the mind though abigail exasperates dorcas the two love each other in fact they complete each other they are an odd pair set down in an odd rhode island town where everyone has a story to tell and writers both published and unpublished carom off each other like billiard balls what is it that makes the two women targets for the new man in town the charming schlockmeister conrad lowe tall whippet thin and predatory in abigail and dorcas he sees a new and tantalizing challenge not the mere conquest of abigail with her easy reputation but a longer and more sinister game a game that will lead to betrayal shame and ultimately murder in her darkly comic and unsettling first novel jincy willett proves that she is a true find that rare writer who can explore the shadowy side of human nature with the lightest of touches moving out a nebraska woman's life is the autobiography of polly spence 1914-98 and an intimate portrait of small town life in the mid twentieth century the descendant of irish settlers polly spent her first fifteen years in franklin a village with conservative puritan religious values in south central nebraska although polly s relationship with her mother was tense she loved and admired her newspaperman father from whom she inherited her love of learning and the english language in 1927 her family moved to crawford a tough but relatively tolerant cow town in northwestern nebraska polly vividly contrasts the cultural differences between franklin s prudishness and crawford s more liberal attitudes though not raised on a ranch she came to love helping her husband feed his cattle deliver calves and cook for logging crews she also found innovative ways to attract visitors to the ranch which she turned into a thriving guest operation despite her devastation following several personal hardships polly displayed remarkable resilience and determination in her life and when intractable problems arose in her marriage she exercised the options of a modern woman in moving out she intertwines the events that characterized her time and place the great depression the intolerance that breathed life into the ku klux klan and the end of the old west with the love death and sorrow that touched her family
