by margaret e burton digicat publishing considers every written word to be a legacy of humankind every digicat book has been carefully reproduced for republishing in a new modern format the books are available in print as well as ebooks digicat hopes you will treat this work with the acknowledgment and passion it deserves as a classic of world literature prasenjit duara offers the first systematic account of the relationship between the nation state nationalism and the concept of linear history focusing primarily on china and including discussion of india duara argues that many historians of postcolonial nation states have adopted a linear evolutionary history of the enlightenment colonial model as a result they have written repressive exclusionary and incomplete accounts the backlash against such histories has resulted in a tendency to view the past as largely constructed imagined or invented in this book duara offers a way out of the impasse between constructionism and the evolving nation he redefines history as a series of multiple often conflicting narratives produced simultaneously at national local and transnational levels in a series of closely linked case studies he considers such examples as the very different histories produced by chinese nationalist reformers and partisans of popular religions the conflicting narratives of statist nationalists and of advocates of federalism in early twentieth century china he demonstrates the necessity of incorporating contestation appropriation repression and the return of the repressed subject into any account of the past that will be meaningful to the present duara demonstrates how to write histories that resist being pressed into the service of the national subject in its progress or stalled progress toward modernity twenty bibliographical essays dealing with the major modern leaders in the taiping rebellion the republican revolution and the communist movement in 1850 china was the sick man of asia now it is set to become the most powerful nation on earth for 150 years china has endured as victim of oppression war and famine this title shows how turbulent that journey has been look no further for a comprehensive narrative of chinese history from the fall of the ming dynasty to the present learn about this influential chinese woman throughout its modern history china has suffered from immense destruction and loss of life from warfare in its worst periods of warfare the eight years of the anti japanese war 1937 45 millions of civilians lost their lives but in china the story of modern war related death and suffering has remained hidden the rape of nanking is beginning to be known but hundreds of other massacres are still unrecognized by the outside world and even by china itself the focus of scars of war is the social and psychological not the economic costs of war on the country the book is illustrated with contemporary photographs and woodblock prints each chapter is introduced by a traditional chinese saying cheng yu on warfare the a to z of modern china 1800 1949 offers a concise yet comprehensive examination of the political military economic social and cultural development of china during the 19th and first half of the 20th centuries it covers a variety of significant people including women and ethnic minorities historical concepts cultural and educational institutions and economic activities the present volume is a supplement equal in size and scope to the volume published in 1955 japanese studies of modern china it includes summaries and critical evaluations of more than one thousand books and articles and comprehensive general and special character indices to establish the correct readings of the names of japanese authors now in a fully updated edition this accessible text provides a balanced history of modern china in a global context the authors focus especially on china's culture warfare and immediate neighbors and provide a unique comparative approach to bridge the cultural divide separating chinese history from western readers trying to understand it
