excerpt from foundation english the expression of ideas two demands seemingly conflicting have made a new first year book in english for high schools a necessity the first being the demand of the college for better written english on the part of the entering students the second being the demand of the public for a more democratic distribution of courses than a college preparatory school offers an examination of the two demands will show however that they are after all not diametrically opposed right thinking clear and adequate expression efficiency are the reasonable and just demands both of the public and of the college neither is concerned with the method of doing the work so long as desired results are obtained the demand of the college for efficiency of expression has led to compulsory courses in english in our high schools with a corresponding increase in the number of hours required for the study no longer is it felt that only the gifted few can write it is demanded that all shall write the demand of the public on the other hand has led to the reduction of the elementary courses from nine years to eight and the introduction into the high schools of the so called vocational courses the result has been to increase enormously the size of our first year classes these people also must be taught to write in its way then the demand of the college is as utilitarian as the demand of the public about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from foundation english the expression of ideas as high school teachers we have been slow to arise to the occasion our teaching has often been too aca demic we have copied the college methods without examining them to see whether they were pedagogically sound as high school methods the consequence has been that we have allowed our classes to drift along with the burden of real preparation placed on the pupils of the upper classes such slipshod work as this not only has failed to prepare classes properly for college but has left out of account those pupils who are not preparing for college as well as those who leave school before the course is completed we are beginning to see how ever that english as well as other branches of study can be taught in a definite and logical manner that the proper time for beginning the work whether in prepara tion for college or for the world at large is in the first year that sound as college methods may be for the col lege they may r not be sound for the high school that the whole of rhetoric should not be taught in the first year or in any year any more than the whole of algebra or the whole of latin that a book containing all the prin ciples of rhetoric is at this early stage in the highest degree confusing and that practice under direction is essential to coherent expression about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works offering readings of nineteenth century travel narratives works by tractarians the early writings of charles kingsley and the poetry of alfred tennyson devon fisher examines representations of roman catholic saints in victorian literature to assess both the relationship between conservative thought and liberalism and the emergence of secular culture during the period the run up to victoria s coronation witnessed a series of controversial liberal reforms while many early victorians considered the repeal of the test and corporation acts 1828 the granting of civil rights to roman catholics 1829 and the extension of the franchise 1832 significant advances for others these three acts signaled a shift in english culture by which authority in matters spiritual and political was increasingly ceded to individuals victorians from a variety of religious perspectives appropriated the lives of roman catholic saints to create narratives of english identity that resisted the recent cultural shift towards private judgment paradoxically conservative victorians handling of the saints and the saints lives in their sheer variety represented an assertion of individual authority that ultimately led to a synthesis of liberalism and conservatism and was a key feature of an emergent secular state characterized not by disbelief but by a range of possible beliefs
