written by the 2018 mindel c sheps award winner this textbook offers a unique method for teaching how to model spatial multiregional population dynamics through models of increasing complexity each chapter in this programmed workbook starts with a descriptive text followed by a sequence of exercises focused on particular multiregional models of increasing complexity and then ends with the solutions it extends the current developments in the spatial analysis of social data towards improving our understanding of dynamics and interacting change across multiple populations in space frameworks for analyzing such dynamics were first proposed in multiregional demography over 40 years ago this book revisits these methods and then illustrates how they may be used to analyze spatial data and study spatial population dynamics topics covered include spatial population dynamics population projections and estimations spatial and age structure of migration flows and much more as such this innovative textbook is a great teaching and learning tool for teachers students as well as individuals who want to study demographic processes across space

does geography affect our sense of self how are social characteristics mapped out on the ground and is there any authentic sense of place now or are we increasingly placeless concentrating on the period between the end of the second world war and the end of the century this reader argues that there is a reciprocal relationship between the constitution of places and people what it means to be a man or a woman to have a nationality and a sense of place has been transformed and reinvented as our view of the world has changed the present is perceived as a time of fear a period in which all that is solid seems to melt into air while the 1950s are a site of nostalgia a period of clarity and certainty a time when people know their place bringing together an interdisciplinary collection of articles for social and cultural geographers this reader critically examines the argument that the close associations of the 1950s between place the home the community and the nation state and the social divisions gender class and nationality are breaking down in the 1990s drawing out the oppositional movements in each decade it seeks to show how the supposed stability of one and the mobility of the other are exaggerated
