pedagogic frailty and resilience in the university presents a theoretical model and a practical tool to support the professional development of reflective university teachers it can be used to highlight links to key issues in higher education pedagogic frailty exists where the quality of interaction between elements in the evolving teaching environment succumbs to cumulative pressures that eventually inhibit the capacity to develop teaching practice indicators of frailty can be observed at different resolutions from the individual to the departmental or the institutional chapters are written by experts in their respective fields who critique the frailty model from the perspectives of their own research this will help readers to make practical links between established bodies of research literature and the concept of frailty and to form a coherent and integrated view of higher education this can then be explored and developed by individuals departments or institutions to inform and evaluate their own enhancement programmes this may support the development of greater resilience to the demands of the teaching environment in comparison with other commonly used terms we have found that the term frailty has improved resonance with the experiences of colleagues across the disciplines in higher education and elicits a personal sometimes emotional response to their professional situation that encourages positive dialogue debate and reflection that may lead to the enhancement of university teaching this book offers a particular route through the fractured discourses of higher education pedagogy creating a coherent and cohesive perspective of the field that may illuminate the experiences and observations of colleagues within the profession if we are to realise the promise of higher education we will need the concepts methods and reflections contained in this book robert r hoffman even if in most countries non university higher education institutions did not have originally a research mandate it is well known that in most cases these institutions have progressively developed research activities and at least in some countries the state now has recognized the research role of these institutions and provided support and funding moreover in many countries the role of research in polytechnics fachhochschulen hogescholen university colleges etc is on the political agenda despite the importance of the issue there are very few in depth studies of research in the non university sector these studies show that the development of research in these institutions leads to quite complex interactions with universities both in the sense of convergence academic drift and or of differentiation of a specific research mandate oriented towards the regional economy therefore this book aims to fill this gap by first analysing a number of transversal issues related to the research mission of these institutions in its second part it gives an overview of the state of the art in eight european countries
