one of the world's most beloved cities from the author of Istanbul: The City and Its Secrets. Its breathtaking architecture, art, and opera ensure that Venice remains a perennially popular destination for tourists and armchair travelers alike. Yet most of the available books about this magical city are either facile travel guides or fusty academic tomes. In Venice, renowned historian Thomas F. Madden draws on new research to explore the city's many astonishing achievements and to set 1,500 years of Venetian history and the endless Venetian-led crusades in the context of the ever-shifting Eurasian world filled with compelling insights and famous figures. Venice is a monumental work of popular history that is as opulent and entertaining as the great city itself. Per the UK publisher William Collins's promotional copy: "There is a quarter of this planet which is often forgotten in the histories that are told in the West. This quarter is an oceanic one, pulsating with winds and waves, tides and coastlines, islands and beaches. The Indian and Pacific Oceans constitute that forgotten quarter brought together here for the first time in a sustained work of history. More specifically, Sivasundaram's aim in this book is to revisit the age of revolutions and empire from the perspective of the Global South, waves across the South ranges from the Arabian Sea across the Indian Ocean to the Bay of Bengal and onward to the South Pacific and Australia's Tasman Sea, as the Western Empires—Dutch, French, but especially British—reached across these vast regions. Echoes of the European revolutions rippled through them and encountered a host of indigenous political developments. Sivasundaram also opens the door to new and necessary conversations about environmental history in addition to the consequences of historical violence, the extraction of resources, and the indigenous futures that Western imperialism cut short."

since its first publication in 1961, What is History? has established itself as the classic introduction to the subject, ranging across topics such as historical objectivity, society, and the individual, the nature of causation, and the possibility of progress. Carr delivered an incisive text that still has the power to provoke debate today. For this fortieth anniversary reissue, Richard J. Evans has written an extensive new introduction that discusses the origins and the impact of the book and assesses its relevance in the age of twenty-first-century postmodernism and epistemological anxiety. From the top-ten bestselling author of Normandy 44 and Sicily 43, The Second World War: The Most Cataclysmic and Violent Sequence of Events in Recent Times but for the past seven decades, our understanding of it has relied upon conventional wisdom, propaganda, and an interpretation skewed by the information available. James Holland has spent over twelve years conducting new research, interviewing survivors, visiting battlefields, and archives that have never before been so accessible and challenging. Too long held assumptions about the war that shaped our world in Germany ascendant. The first part of this ground-breaking new history, The War Beginning, with the lead-up to its outbreak in 1939 and taking us up to mid-1941 as the Nazis prepared to unleash Operation Barbarossa, the invasion of Russia, to tell the real story, he weaves together the experiences of dozens of individuals from civilians and soldiers to sailors, pilots, leading military strategists, industrialists, and heads of state and uncovers the strategy, tactics, and events that informed not only the military aspects of the war but also the economic political and social aspects too the war in the west is a truly monumental history of the war on land in the air and at sea in it james holland has created a captivating and epic narrative which redefines and enhances our understanding of one of the most significant conflicts in history the notion of history has always been one strenuously debated by both academics and the wider population this deeply provocative re thinking of our engagement with the past by one of the world s leading post modern historians takes that debate one step further alun munslow re assesses history in the light of post modernism and other intellectual challenges which have questioned the primacy of the modernist epistemology of empiricism in an original and stimulating vision of history that will intrigue all those seriously interested in the subject munslow argues that history is not only about the sources but a literary construction munslow concludes that history as a cultural narrative about the past can never tell us what the past really means this far reaching conclusion is based on the radical idea that the content of history is defined as much by the nature of the language used to represent and interpret that content as it is by research into the sources this suggests that history does not produce the most likely meaning of the past but rather can only generate alternative meanings the lead volume in a major new series on historical thinking and practice this is an accessible yet absorbing study that breaks new ground in discussing the stage history is at now and perhaps most engagingly the direction it will take in the future
