Tracking the Weretiger 2012-09-26

drawing on dramatic accounts by european colonials and on detailed studies by folklorists and anthropologists this work explores intriguing age old asian beliefs and claims that man eating tigers and little tigers or leopards alike were in various ways supernatural it is a serious work based on extensive research written in a lively style fundamental to the book is the evocation of a long vanished world when a man eater struck in colonial times people typically said it was a demon sent by a deity or even the deity itself in animal form punishing transgressors and being guided by its victims angry spirits colonials typically dismissed this as superstitious nonsense but given traditional ideas about the close links between people tigers and the spirit world it is quite understandable other man eaters were said to be shapeshifting black magicians the result is a rich fund of tales from india and the malay world in particular and while some people undoubtedly believed them others took advantage of man eaters to persecute minorities as the supposed true culprits the book explores the prejudices behind these witch hunts and also considers asian weretiger and wereleopard lore in a wider context finding common features with the more familiar werewolves of medieval europe in particular

Tiger Tales 2006

the tiger s enduring appeal has generated a vast body of literature this anthology compiled from non fiction sources by tiger scientist and conservationist k ullas karanth opens up a captivating world of rich descriptions deeply felt personal experiences and serious reflections by hunters amateur naturalists and wildlife scientists who encountered this most charismatic of all animal species the first section of the book explores tiger hunting and old style natural history and revives some of the earliest essays on the tiger historian mahesh rangarajan s overview of the pre colonial and colonial periods when ruthless hunting of tigers was the dominant social ethos sets the stage for english forester c e m russell s narration of tiger hunting in mysore published in 1900 then follow tales by hunter naturalists dunbar brander fred champion kenneth anderson william bazé and arthur locke the descriptions by more recent and less justifiably bloodthirsty hunters such as kesri singh a game manager in princely india and jack denton scott an american safari hunter provide grim examples of the slaughter of tigers the second section covers the post colonial period this was the era when a new natural history driven by the sheer joy of watching tigers emerged leading to the first steps to save this magnificent cat from the brink of extinction essays by forest managers such as a hoogerwerf kailash sankhala and vladimir troinin who were fascinated by the tiger are complemented by the writings of perceptive amateur naturalists such as e p gee arjan singh and valmik thapar in the last section the reader steps into the world of modern tiger science and conservation an account of the first ever scientific study of tigers by george schaller is followed by the observations of other biologists such as john seidensticker melvin sunquist dale miquelle and john goodrich who followed in schaller s footsteps and generated new insights into tiger ecology and behaviour the concluding essay by naturalist historian geoffrey ward offers a lucid overview of current tiger conservation issues with its judicious blend of adventure natural history and tiger science this anthology will appeal to wildlife enthusiasts as well as serious conservationists the business of martyrdom is the only comprehensive history of suicide bombing from its origins in imperial russia to the present day it makes use of a framework from the history and philosophy of technology to explain the diffusion and evolution of suicide bombing over the past several decades it is primarily a work of synthesis meant to reach a broad audience and endeavors to integrate as much of the recent scholarly literature as possible including reconciling explanatory mechanisms that seem to be at odds with one another in addition this book is able to draw on very recent changes in suicide bombing in the years 2008 2010 that allow it to have a slightly different perspective than earlier studies for the first time the global number of suicide attacks has declined significantly for three years in a row this book therefore has the advantage of addressing the phenomenon of suicide bombing as a bounded phenomenon with limits to its growth and diffusion to this point the impression that suicide bombers are the smartest bombs yet created has been widespread but confined to the area of metaphor drawing well established ideas from the history of technology the business of martyrdom argues that the metaphor should be taken literally suicide bombing is a technology that has been invented and re invented at different times in different areas but always for the same purpose resolving a mismatch in military capabilities between antagonists by utilizing the available cultural and human resources over the past several years analysts have produced a large number of monographs and articles examining suicide bombing the best contributions in this new and growing literature have shed considerable light on the complexity of suicide bombing in practice particularly regarding the structure of the organizations that deploy suicide bombers and the relationships between these organizations and the recruits whom they utilize in their attacks nevertheless nagging inconsistencies and questions remain these inconsistencies can be explained by examining suicide bombing as a technological system that integrates human beings cultures and devices and directs them toward specific ends such an analysis requires that neither the individual bombers nor their sponsoring organizations be the basic unit of discussion instead the bombers must be understood as components within a much larger system that has been shaped by a host of social cultural and operational constraints throughout its existence integrating insights from the historical analysis of other technological systems with the recent literature specifically devoted to suicide bombing therefore allows the business of martyrdom to develop a fuller understanding of suicide bombing as a unified yet diverse phenomenon there is a problem in the scientific community they are more than happy to debate those who believe the earth is flat yet when one brings up sasquatch they quickly ignore the subject and shun anyone in the scientific community who does look into the evidence the sasquatch paradox shows that the scientific community does not live up to its ideal we should not be surprised at this fact as this has been the case since the scientific revolution and so the question remains and the scientists still haven't provided an adequate answer to this one fundamental question what is leaving ape footprints in the woods of north america in parts of korea and china moon bears black but for the crescent shaped patch of white on their chests are captured in the wild and brought to bear farms where they are imprisoned in squeeze cages and a steel catheter is inserted into their gall bladders the dripping bile is collected as a cure for ailments ranging from an upset stomach to skin burns the bear may live as long as fifteen years in this state rhinos are being illegally poached for their horns as are tigers for their bones thought to improve virility booming economies and growing wealth in parts of asia are increasing demand for these precious medicinals already endangered species are being sacrificed for temporary treatments for nausea and erectile dysfunction richard ellis one of the world's foremost experts in wildlife extinction brings his alarm to the pages of tiger bone rhino horn in the hope that through an exposure of this drug trade something can be done to save the animals most direly threatened trade in animal parts for traditional chinese medicine is a leading cause of species endangerment in asia and poaching is increasing at an alarming rate most of traditional chinese medicine relies on herbs and other plants and is not a cause for concern ellis illuminates those aspects of traditional medicine but as wildlife habitats are shrinking for the hunted large species the situation is becoming ever more critical one hundred years ago there were probably 100 000 tigers in india south china sumatra bali java and the russian far east the south chinese caspian balinese and javan species are extinct there are now fewer than 5 000 tigers in all of india and the numbers are dropping fast there are five species of rhinoceros three in asia and two in africa and all have been hunted to near extinction so their horns can be ground into powder not for aphrodisiacs as commonly thought but for ailments ranging from arthritis to depression in 1930 there were 80 000 black rhinos in africa now there are fewer than 2 500 tigers bears and rhinos are not the only animals pursued for the sake of alleviating human ills the list includes musk deer sharks saiga antelope seahorses porcupines monkeys beavers and sea lions but the dwindling numbers of those rare species call us to attention ellis tells us what has been done successfully and contemplates what can and must be done to save these animals or sadly our children will witness the extinction of tigers rhinos and moon bears in their lifetime dogs are invented creatures invented by humans who have been shaping the lives of these four legged companions for more than 14 000 years however we often forget that just as dogs live in our world we live in theirs the modern dog is a look at our coevolution interpreting both canine and human points of view by dr stanley coren the most consistently popular author of dog books ever a fascinating treasure trove of information gleaned from science folklore religious writing tradition and politics the modern dog explores not only how dogs behave but also how we share our lives with our dogs much more a romp than a formal exposition the modern dog s profiles and tales are funny sweet quirky and reveal a lot about both species and our centuries long partnership this book will show you how the mutually beneficial relationship between humans and dogs might very well be the reason why early homo sapiens evolved and survived while neanderthals became extinct you will see how dogs have played many prominent roles in human history from ancient egypt where pharaoh ramses ii was buried with the names and statues of four of his dogs to modern american politics where many u s presidents have derived comfort from canine companionship our modern dog is quite different from the dogs that existed even a century ago its job having changed dramatically from the hunting herding retrieving and guarding for which many were bred in this book you will see that it is often how people respond to and interpret the actions of dogs and dog owners that has a greater effect on the dog s life than the behavior patterns that have been programmed into the dog s genes the modern dog will show you how some of your dog s strange and funny habits are his own and some come from you illustrated throughout with dr coren s own charming drawings the modern dog chronicles the various aspects of how we interact with dogs how society responds to dogs how our relationships with dogs have changed over history and where dogs fit into our personal and emotional lives it does this by telling the stories of dogs that work dogs that love dogs that behave badly and dogs that will make you laugh
