social upheavals and transitions she shares memories from her years in cuba 1969 to 1980 and nicaragua 1980 to 1984 as well as briefer periods in north vietnam immediately preceding the end of the war in 1975 and peru during the government of velasco alvarado in her introduction randall states objects and places have always been alive to me her history too is alive as much of a means to consider our own present as it is to glimpse her vibrant past for almost two decades napoleon bonaparte was the most feared and revered man in europe at the height of his power the land under his control stretched from the baltic to the mediterranean and encompassed most of western europe the story of how a young corsican who spoke french with a strange accent became emperor of the french at the age of just thirty three is a remarkable one the many fascinating objects brought together in this book detail not only napoleon s meteoric rise to power but also his art of war and that magnificent fighting force the imperial guard which grew from a small personal bodyguard to the size of a small army some of his great battles such as marengo austerlitz jena and wagram are also explored as is napoleon s great oriental adventure which saw him conquer egypt he took with him artists and scientists which led to the discovery of the rosetta stone and the deciphering of the egyptian hieroglyphs napoleon however took a step too far when he marched into russia the vast distances and the weather wrecked his army and he was never able to recover and eventually his enemies proved too strong france was invaded and he was compelled to abdicate napoleon was not finished though and he returned from exile to lead france into war one more time only for his army to be beaten beyond all hope of recovery in the muddy flanders fields at waterloo in this engaging and hugely informative book the author takes us on a journey across napoleonic europe to discover the places people and objects that tell the story of one man s life it is a story of one of the most turbulent eras in history one that to this day still bears bonaparte s name but his legacy lives on in the french legal and social systems and he remains as enigmatic a figure today as he did 200 years ago a visual history of this forgotten wwi bombing campaign a fantastic book remnants of stained glass windows grocery shop scales and so much more war history online the first world war ushered in many new and increasingly deadly weapons and strategies none more so than germany s sustained aerial bombing campaign against britain which opened an entirely new theatre of war the home front it was a shocking awakening to twentieth century warfare for the military and civilians alike there are still fascinating glimpses of this first air campaign long overshadowed by the blitz of world war ii to be found in the streets of british towns and cities often unnoticed each tells its own dramatic tale of death and destruction or maybe of heroism and narrow escapes museums hold tantalizing reminders of the air raids from complete aircraft that defended the country to relics of great zeppelins that initially brought terror to the british population but ultimately were doomed to become nothing more than great heaps of burnt and twisted wreckage this first time assault from the air both terrified and fascinated citizens and unexpectedly a significant trade in air raid souvenirs developed from postcards of wrecked houses and bomb craters to china models of zeppelins and their bombs and pieces of zeppelin wreckage and among the 100 objects brought together in this book there can also be found tales of resilience humor and determination which all have their place in the story of this first blitz authored by award winning historian jock phillips the history of new zealand in 100 objects is gripping inclusive often revelatory and deeply human a colourful and characterful retelling of our shared past relevant to today particular to all of us the sewing kete of an unknown 18th century maori woman the endeavour cannons that fired on waka in 1769 the bagpipes of an irish publican paddy galvin the school uniform of harold pond a napier tech pupil in the hawke s bay quake the biko shields that tried to protect protestors during the springbok tour in 1981 winston reynolds remarkable home made hokitika television set the oldest working tv in the country the soccer ball that was a tribute to tariq omar a victim of the christchurch mosque shootings and so many more these are items of quiet significance and great personal meaning taonga carrying stories that together represent a dramatic full of life history for everyday new zealanders at the dawn of the twentieth century mankind had not yet achieved powered flight the main motive power then was provided by steam engines heavy dirty and inefficient if one wanted to travel over seas one had to travel on them a journey from london to new york by steam driven train and ship took more than 6 days by the time the same century drew to a close in december 1999 air travel was the normal choice for long journeys millions of people every day flew comfortably and safely in pressurised aluminium airliners propelled by simple clean and efficient gas turbine engines the same journey from london to new york could be achieved at supersonic speed in less than 6 hours for much of that century many of the extraordinary developments that moved aviation from fragile wood and fabric biplanes to supersonic transports were achieved on 330 acres of low lying former estate farmland in surrey england the estate was called brooklands those marshy acres were transformed from 1907 into the world s first custom built motor racing circuit then a rapidly developing aerodrome and finally one of the country s largest aircraft factories employing tens of thousands of people nearly 19 000 aircraft of many different types were built at brooklands during nine decades of peace and war by the 1980s however it was being eclipsed by larger manufacturing sites elsewhere with longer runways and better communications links its owner by then called british aerospace finally closed the factory in 1989 this book tells the history of those amazing developments through 100 of the key aircraft engines places and other objects that can still be seen either in or near brooklands museum or in other locations around the country it also highlights the stories of six designers whose inspiring creativity produced aircraft engines and weapons ranging from camel to concorde fury to harrier wellington to viscount merlin to olympus between them thomas sopwith barnes wallis rex pierson sydney camm stanley hooker and george edwards were responsible for much of what was designed built and flown not only at brooklands but elsewhere too the book is arranged in successive historical episodes but the many links between the objects and the designers should allow readers to follow different paths if they so wish it is not intended as a technical reference but rather to inspire the reader to seek out the objects and discover more about them beautifully designed and carefully curated a fascinating collection of the things that shaped the way we live and play in america what artifact best captures the spirit of american sports the bat babe ruth used to hit his allegedly called shot or the ball on which pete rose wrote i m sorry i bet on baseball could it be lance armstrong s red white and blue bike now tarnished by doping and hubris or perhaps its ancestor the nineteenth century safety bicycle that opened an avenue of previously unknown freedom to women the jerseys of rivals larry bird and magic johnson or the handball that abraham lincoln threw against a wall as he waited for news of his presidential nomination from nearly forgotten heroes like tad lucas rodeo and tommy kono weightlifting to celebrities like amelia earhart muhammad ali and michael phelps cait murphy tells the stories of the people events and things that have forged the epic of american sports in both its splendor and its squalor stories of heroism and triumph rub up against tales of discrimination and cheating these objects tell much more than just stories about great games they tell the story of the nation eye opening and exuberant a history of american sports in 100 objects shows how the games americans play are woven into the gloriously infuriating fabric of america itself the only thing that ever really frightened me during the war was the u boat peril wrote winston churchill in his history of the second world war i was even more anxious about this battle than i had been about the glorious air fight called the battle of britain in reality the kriegsmarine had been woefully unprepared for the war into which it was thrown the command in chief of submarines karl dōnitz himself a verteran u boat captain from the first world war felt that he could bring britain to its knees with a fleet of 300 u boats but when war broke out he had just twenty four available for operational use despite this the u boat arm scored some incredible successes in the early part of the war raising the status of the submarine commanders and crews to that of national heroes in the eyes of the german people the grey wolves had become super stars small wonder then that the u boat war has fascinated students of military history ever since this book using a carefully selected range of both wartime images and colour images of surviving u boat memorabilia from private collections describes 100 iconic elements of the u boat service and its campaigns the array of objects include important individuals and the major u boat types through to the uniforms and insignias the men wore the weapons equipment and technology used are explored as are the conditions in which the u boat crews served from cooking facilities and general hygiene down to the crude toilet facilities importantly the enemy that they faced is also covered examining the ship borne and airborne anti submarine weaponry utilised against the u boats the u boats began the war though small in number shipping more than a match for the allies and created carnage amongst merchant shipping as well as sinking several major warships the pace of technological development however failed to match that of allied anti submarine warfare weaponry and the u bootwaffe was ultimately doomed to defeat but not before at one point coming close to bringing britain to its knees from veteran true crime master harold schechter comes a unique look into the history of crime told through the dark objects left behind the false teeth of a female serial killer from 1908 the cut and paste confession of the black dahlia killer the newly cracked cipher of the zodiac killer the shotgun used in the clutter family murders which were made famous by truman capote s true crime classic in cold blood these are more than simple artifacts that once belonged to notorious murderers they are objets of fascination to the legion of true crime obsessives around the world and not merely for fleeting dark thrills but because they represent a way to better understand those who we typically label monsters in lieu of learning how they actually became one in murderabilia veteran true crime writer harold schechter presents 100 murder related artifacts spanning two centuries 1808 2014 with accompanying stories of various lengths a visual and literary journey it presents a history unlike any previously told in the true crime genre one that speaks to the dark fascination of true crime fans while also presenting a larger historical timeline of how and why we continue to be captivated by the most sensational crimes and killers among us a riveting imagined history looking back on the twenty first century through one hundred of its artifacts from silent messaging systems to artificial worlds on asteroids in the year 2082 a curator looks back at the twenty first century offering a history of the era through a series of objects and artifacts he reminisces about the power of connectivity which was reinforced by such technologies as silent messaging wearable computers that relay subvocal communication quotes from a self help guide to making friends with posthumans describes the establishment of artificial worlds on asteroids and recounts pro democracy movements in epistocratic states in a new history of the future in 100 objects adrian hon constructs a possible future by imagining the things it might leave in its wake we are constantly surrounded by objects by things that channel and dictate our everyday life things that we take for granted but these objects speak to us and speak about us they have a story to tell that reflects our values and aspirations our achievements and dreams and reveal more about us than we realize this richly illustrated book focuses on 100 objects to tell a story of india that unravels in a series of thematic sections that allow the objects to take center stage the stories that some objects tell will be new to readers at other times the objects themselves may be familiar but the story they tell may not be obvious the 100 objects shed light on the varying priorities and the differing strands of achievement that arose over time to create the rich multi cultural medley that is today s india for half a millennium throughout almost the entire medieval period the catholic church sanctioned military campaigns against what it perceived as its enemies the rise of islam and its spread across large parts of the middle east asia north africa and even the peripheries of europe saw muslim warriors seize the holy land occupy jerusalem and threaten constantinople in response pope urban ii advocated a crusade to retake the holy land the first of nine military campaigns that stretched over the succeeding 200 years other lesser known crusades were subsequently mounted with the aim of christianizing the more remote regions of northern and north eastern europe as well as against the cathars in southern france the advance of the ottomans into the balkans saw further crusades to halt the muslims in bosnia and serbia and the re conquest of spain from the muslim moors such diverse theaters of conflict have resulted in an equally diverse number of relics still to be found in a score of countries from magnificent castles swords artillery and coats of arms to crusader struck coins and even the brass pen box used by muslim writers to spread the word of islam this remarkable collection of artifacts and structures tells the story much of it largely forgotten of the conflicts which shaped the nature of the western world known today both in spiritual and geographical terms beautifully illustrated and written by acknowledged period expert james waterson the crusades in 100 objects opens a window into the past as never seen before 100 design in one hundred objects is a fascinating selection of images depicting objects that have played a major role in the evolution of international design thanks to 100 striking colour images the reader will discover page after page everyday ob

Wales in 100 Objects 2019-09-20 for almost two decades napoleon bonaparte was the most feared and revered man in europe at the height of his power the land under his control stretched from the baltic to the mediterranean and encompassed most of western europe the story of how a young corsican who spoke french with a strange accent became emperor of the french at the age of just thirty three is a remarkable one the many fascinating objects brought together in this book detail not only napoleon s meteoric rise to power but also his art of war and that magnificent fighting force the imperial guard which grew from a small personal bodyguard to the size of a small army some of his great battles such as marengo austerlitz jena and wagram are also explored as is napoleon s great oriental adventure which saw him conquer egypt he took with him artists and scientists which led to the discovery of the rosetta stone and the deciphering of the egyptian hieroglyphs napoleon however took a step too far when he marched into russia the vast distances and the weather wrecked his army and he was never able to recover and eventually his enemies proved too strong france was invaded and he was compelled to abdicate napoleon was not finished though and he returned from exile to lead france into war one more time only for his army to be beaten beyond all hope of recovery in the muddy flanders fields at waterloo in this engaging and hugely informative book the author takes us on a journey across napoleonic europe to discover the places people and objects that tell the story of one man s life it is a story of one of the most turbulent eras in history one that to this day still bears bonaparte s name but his legacy lives on in the french legal and social systems and he remains as enigmatic a figure today as he did 200 years ago

My Life in 100 Objects 2020-09-15 a visual history of this forgotten wwi bombing campaign a fantastic book remnants of stained glass windows grocery shop scales and so much more war history online the first world war ushered in many new and increasingly deadly weapons and strategies none more so than germany's sustained aerial bombing campaign against britain which opened an entirely new theatre of war the home front it was a shocking awakening to twentieth century warfare for the military and civilians alike there are still fascinating glimpses of this first air campaign long overshadowed by the blitz of world war ii to be found in the streets of british towns and cities often unnoticed each tells its own dramatic tale of death and destruction or maybe of heroism and narrow escapes museums hold tantalizing reminders of the air raids from complete aircraft that defended the country to relics of great zeppelins that initially brought terror to the british population but ultimately were doomed to become nothing more than great heaps of burnt and twisted wreckage this first time assault from the air both terrified and fascinated citizens and unexpectedly a significant trade in air raid souvenirs developed from postcards of wrecked houses and bomb craters to china models of zeppelins and their bombs and pieces of zeppelin wreckage and among the 100 objects brought together in this book there can also be found tales of resilience humor and determination which all have their place in the story of this first blitz

The First Blitz in 100 Objects 2020-05-19 at the dawn of the twentieth century mankind had not yet achieved powered flight the main motive power then was provided by steam engines heavy dirty and inefficient if one wanted to travel over seas one had to travel on them a journey from london to new york by steam driven train and ship took more than 6 days by the time the same century drew to a close in december 1999 air travel was the normal choice for long journeys millions of people every day flew comfortably and safely in pressurised aluminium airliners propelled by simple clean and efficient gas turbine engines the same journey from london to new york could be achieved at supersonic speed in less than 6 hours for much of that century many of the extraordinary developments that moved aviation from fragile wood and fabric biplanes to supersonic transports were achieved on 330 acres of low lying former estate farmland in Surrey England the estate was called Brooklands those marshy acres were transformed from 1907 into the world's first custom built motor racing circuit then a rapidly developing aerodrome and finally one of the country's largest aircraft factories employing tens of thousands of people nearly 19 000 aircraft of many different types were built at Brooklands during nine decades of peace and war by the 1980s however it was being eclipsed by larger manufacturing sites elsewhere with longer runways and better communications links its owner by then called British Aerospace finally closed the factory in 1989 this book tells the history of those amazing developments through 100 of the key aircraft engines places and other objects that can still be seen either in or near Brooklands museum or in other locations around the country it also highlights the stories of six designers whose inspiring creativity produced aircraft engines and weapons ranging from Camel to Concorde Fury to Harrier Wellington to Viscount Merlin to Olympus between them Thomas Sopwith Barnes Wallis Rex Pierson Sydney Camm Stanley Hooker and George Edwards were responsible for much of what was designed built and flown not only at Brooklands but elsewhere too the book is arranged in successive historical episodes but the many links between the objects and the designers should allow readers to follow different paths if they so wish it is not intended as a technical reference but rather to inspire the reader to seek out the objects and discover more about them

A History of New Zealand in 100 Objects 2022-10-18 beautifully designed and carefully curated a fascinating collection of the things that shaped the way we live and play in America what artifact best captures the spirit of American sports the bat Babe Ruth used to hit his allegedly called shot or the ball on which Pete Rose wrote I'm sorry I bet on baseball could it be Lance Armstrong's red white and blue bike now tarnished by doping and hubris or perhaps its ancestor the nineteenth century safety bicycle that opened an avenue of previously unknown freedom to women the jerseys of rivals Larry Bird and Magic Johnson or the handball that Abraham Lincoln threw against a wall as he waited for news of his presidential nomination from nearly forgotten heroes like Tad Lucas rodeo and Tommy Kono weightlifting to celebrities like Amelia Earhart Muhammad Ali and Michael Phelps Cait Murphy tells the stories of the people events and things that have forged the epic of American sports in both its splendor and its squalor stories of heroism and triumph rub up against tales of discrimination and cheating these objects tell much more than just stories about great games they tell the story of the nation eye opening and exuberant a history of American sports in 100 objects shows how the games Americans play are woven into the gloriously infuriating fabric of America itself

A History of Aviation at Brooklands in 100 Objects 2024-06-30 the only thing that ever really frightened me during the war was the U boat peril wrote Winston Churchill in his history of the second world war I was even more anxious about this battle than I had been about the glorious air fight called the battle of Britain. In reality, the Kriegsmarine had been woefully unprepared for the war into which it was thrown. The command in chief of submarines, Karl Dönitz himself, a veteran U-boat captain from the First World War, felt that he could bring Britain to its knees with a fleet of 300 U-boats. But when war broke out, he had just twenty-four available for operational use. Despite this, the U-boat arm scored some incredible successes in the early part of the war, raising the status of the submarine commanders and crews to that of national heroes in the eyes of the German people. The Grey Wolves had become superstars. Small wonder, then, that the U-boat war has fascinated students of military history ever since. This book, using a carefully selected range of both wartime images and colour images of surviving U-boat memorabilia from private collections, describes 100 iconic elements of the U-boat service and its campaigns. The array of objects include important individuals and the major U-boat types through to the uniforms and insignias the men wore. The weapons, equipment, and technology used are explored, as are the conditions in which the U-boat crews served, from cooking facilities and general hygiene down to the crude toilet facilities. Importantly, the enemy that they faced is also covered, examining the ship-borne and airborne anti-submarine weaponry utilised against the U-boats. The U-boats began the war, though small in number, more than a match for the Allies and created carnage amongst merchant shipping, as well as sinking several major warships. The pace of technological development, however, failed to match that of Allied anti-submarine warfare weaponry, and the U-boatwaffe was ultimately doomed to defeat, but not before, at one point, coming close to bringing Britain to its knees.

A History of American Sports in 100 Objects 2016-10-11 from veteran true crime master Harold Schechter comes a unique look into the history of crime, told through the dark objects left behind: the false teeth of a female serial killer from 1908, the cut and paste confession of the Black Dahlia killer, the newly cracked cipher of the Zodiac killer, the shotgun used in the Clutter family murders, which were made famous by Truman Capote's true crime classic In Cold Blood. These are more than simple artifacts that once belonged to notorious murderers; they are objects of fascination to the legion of true crime obsessives around the world, and not merely for fleeting dark thrills, but because they represent a way to better understand those who we typically label monsters, in lieu of learning how they actually became one. In Murderabilia, veteran true crime writer Harold Schechter presents 100 murder-related artifacts spanning two centuries, 1808-2014, with accompanying stories of various lengths. A visual and literary journey, it presents a history unlike any previously told in the true crime genre, one that speaks to the dark fascination of true crime fans while also presenting a larger historical timeline of how and why we continue to be captivated by the most sensational crimes and killers among us.
