finalist for the 2009 national book critics circle award in criticism from agee to astaire steinbeck to ellington the creative energies of the depression against a backdrop of poverty and economic disaster only yesterday the great depression seemed like a bad memory receding into the hazy distance with little relevance to our own flush times economists assured us that the calamities that befell our grandparents could not happen again yet the recent economic meltdown has once again riveted the world s attention on the 1930s now in this timely and long awaited cultural history morris dickstein whom norman mailer called one of our best and most distinguished critics of american literature explores the anxiety and hope the despair and surprising optimism of a traumatized nation dickstein s fascination springs from his own childhood from a father who feared a pink slip every friday and from his own love of the more exuberant side of the era zany screwball comedies witty musicals and the lubricious choreography of busby berkeley whether analyzing the influence of film design literature theater or music dickstein lyrically demonstrates how the arts were then so integral to the fabric of american society while any lover of american literature knows fitzgerald and steinbeck dickstein also reclaims the lives of other novelists whose work offers enduring insights nathanael west saw los angeles as a vast dream dump a sargasso sea of tawdry longing that exposed the pinched and disappointed lives of ordinary people while erskine caldwell his books tobacco road and god s little acre festooned with lurid covers provided the most graphic portrayal of rural destitution in the 1930s dickstein also immerses us in the visions of zora neale hurston and henry roth only later recognized for their literary masterpieces just as dickstein radically transforms our understanding of depression literature he explodes the prevailing myths that 1930s musicals and movies were merely escapist whether describing the undertone of sadness that lurks just below the surface of cole porter s bubbly world or stressing the darker side of capra s wildly popular films he shows how they delivered a catharsis of pain and an evangel of hope dickstein suggests that the tragic and comic worlds of broadway and hollywood preserved a radiance and energy that became a bastion against social suffering dancing in the dark describes how fdr s administration recognized the critical role that the arts could play in enabling the helpless to become hopeful the victims to become agents along with the wpa the photography unit of the fsa represented a historic partnership between government and art and the photographers among them walker evans and dorothea lange created the defining look of the period the symbolic end to this cultural flowering came finally with the new york world s fair of 1939 40 a collective event that presented a vision of the future as a utopia of streamlined modernity and at long last consumer abundance retrieving the stories of an entire generation of performers and writers dancing in the dark shows how a rich panoramic culture both exposed and helped alleviate the national trauma this luminous work is a monumental study of one of america s most remarkable artistic periods today environmental problems of unprecedented magnitude confront planet earth the sobering fact is that a whole range of human activities is affecting our global environment as profoundly as the billions of years of evolution that preceded our tenure on earth the pressure on vital natural resources in the developing world and elsewhere is intense and the destruction of tropical forests wildlife habitat and other irreplaceable resources is alarming climate change ozone depletion loss of genetic diversity and marine pollution are critical global environmental concerns their cumulative impact threatens to destroy the planet s natural resources the need to address this situation is urgent more than at any previous moment in history nature and ecological systems are in human hands dependent on human efforts the earth is an interconnected and interdependent global ecosystem and change in one part of the system often causes unexpected change in other parts atmospheric oceanic wetland terrestrial and other ecological systems have a finite capacity to absorb the environmental degradation caused by human behavior the need for an environmentally sound sustainable economy to ease this degradation is evident and urgent policies designed to stimulate economic development by foregoing pollution controls both destroy the long term economy and ravage the environment over the years we have sometimes drawn artificial distinctions between the health of individuals and the health of ecosystems but in the real world those distinctions do not exist
