ONE HUNDRED AND ONE FAMOUS POEMS 2018

i hope this book will touch your heart concerning the many attributes of life i have shared with you although i do not have a set style of writing i consider myself as being creative and versatile a god given ability and talent to create words with energy and emotions the variety of poems that are placed in this book are unique in their own way i pray which ever poem or prose enlightens your heart that you are able to embrace the words and share them with someone else i pray this book will help you to be able to encourage the life of someone around you and help to change the course of their life poetry is a spiritual gift of love concerning the many evolutions and cycles that this world we call the planet earth evolves around it is a gift of love shared by the muses of ones connectivity to bring an individual or individuals into a glorifying act of happiness and peace through each word each line each stanza and ending what you choose to grasp and take with you concerning my work i pray it will be with you forever my book of poems for the world is a mixture of my work according to how you feel at the time you pick up the book to read it i am certain you will thumb through the pages and say to yourself i like this one or that one just remember that any poem or prose you choose it is definitely up to your liking you will enjoy them all but everyone has a favorite i expressed many emotions and feelings in this book concerning the poetry and prose enclosed you will find poems and prose of love romance humor spiritual enlightenment poems and prose for just a little food for thought on the spiritual side of it all i must say that the prose just one more soul is one of my best works it deals with the lost soul and how you must seek god for yourself there is also a penny for your thoughts quite controversial yet it leads you to a higher power as one would say reminding you in the process of course there is only one true god if you would go deeper into the book and study it carefully i am certain that you are going to run across what i consider a little food for thought a prose i have written titled my shoes my bed my table if you really have a heart ticking in your body once you finish this one prose i am certain you will become more involved in what is taking place with those who are in need of assistance not just the homeless but the widows orphans and strangers who you turn your backs on daily i cry from the womb is based on the awareness all mothers should have due to their ability to bring life into this world a child crying for their mothers protection sensitive and touching although i do not consider myself to be a controversial writer i understand that some of my work does take some people into deep thought meaning critics and will cause them to think otherwise i must state because of my love for all mankind i only write what i know to be factual and true what i have experienced and what i have researched in order that the truth does not get distorted prose like the whip an unpaid debt the dim light of justice and a few others may spark a few thoughts concerning your creed color or religious background i state it is time for a positive change to occur and if my work begins to reopen the doors of concern for everyone to put their cards on the table and show their hands then there is not a need to vote simple poems says it all one of the nicest things about this book is that any literate individual can understand these poems and relate to many of them as you read through this book i hope it makes you smile a little smile and cry a tear or two i hope with each verse you picture the events and feel the emotion if this occurs the book will be a success if you are having some tough times or just a bad day and you think of one of these poems and it helps you get over the hump then this book has accomplished everything that i believed it could sit back relax and read the only power greater than reading is the power of writing something worthy of reading i hope that one of these poems will remain in your memory for a lifetime and that you enjoy reading this book as much as i enjoyed writing it thank you mayne leitzer scenes the writer shows forty one places a poem can go is a collection of poems from travels and experiences they describe situations and moments in life mine or someone elses that were either positive or negative a few poems deal with teenage angst and issues of personal experience either in my own or someone elses life the hustler for example loosely mirrors my life and experience as a disabled person it is a montage of my years living in downtown minneapolis riding public transit and adapting to urban life word play meter and music used often to create images that will draw the reader into the poem for example in waxing on flames i tried to create the image of a bonfire by a river with young scouts growing up as flames nurture them along we were young and at the mercy of our means and we flung ourselves down upon the flames for what we knew felt right i bridled from those heated pains that boiled and tested me and knelt down to pray upon the iron grate while moonlight splintered trees to shake ripe fierce winds id learned to hate my poems travel to england to scotland and wales they go to the mid east and to norway they go from my home in minneapolis to new york and tennessee

One Sweet Pomegranate 2020-04-14

forty days and one night is a compilation of poems intended to be used as a motivational aid in the writings of other poets from the novice on up this collection is a sample of examples of different poetry types and styles rhyming non rhyming happy sad simple complex multiple rhyming schemed haiku romantic faith based and story poems are the bulk of this set of examples the straightforward eight syllable poem or eight syllablur has been included to point out how simple and repetitive this form can be complex multiple rhyming schemed poems are the highlight of this collection and are each very different from one another the intent here is to encourage poets to be original and explore new and unique writing styles a well written poem should compare to the sounds of children playing the wind in the trees and the music made by tires on a distant highway these sounds and others should bring pen to paper inspiring one to turn black and white into a vibrant rainbow of words as there is are good and bad music stories and feelings there are also good and bad poems write rewrite read and reread don t be satisfied with average or mediocre writings the poet is the writers writer specializing in arranging words in more than just a readable format but in a vividly colorful and musical way without the paint brush or the orchestra when a poem is completed it should be flawless and fulfilling to the author feelings will flow as well as the words this collection consists of three groups of poems the first is a set of eighteen poems titled a love story inspired by life s rollercoaster ride through love and heartbreak it classically begins with boy meets girl and a shared romantically passionate love a love filled with hopes and dreams that could last forever if not for the promiscuous desires of a selfish young man the pain and anguish felt by him is heart wrenching and ends with him as a lonely old man filled with fond memories and a relentless quest for love and passions of the heart a life filled with good intentions selfish mistakes and a lust for love tainted at times leaving this man old and lonely throughout his life s story death is mentioned in seven of the eighteen poems he is heartbroken to the point of suicidal contemplations yet he drives onward though at times life can sometimes seem like a downward spiral there is always something to live for or look forward to and thankfully he realizes this before it is too late part two is a set of worldly writings with an emphasis on the wide variety of topics to pen poems about there are so many inspirations yet so little time easily an entire volume could be written about god or love but expand the imagination into a world of talking frogs children playing flowing waters disease and laughter put yourself in the shoes of a man being released from prison or a poor rich man walking home in the rain dream imagine feel express all of this and more with the mere stroke of a pen give this magical mystical form of self expression to the world responsibly and lovingly share what is within you with those who surround you finally we all believe in something and so our beliefs are written so that they may be shared with others we write about what we believe in hopes that some good will come of it and so i share my faith both lovingly and passionately i believe what i believe as well as you believe what you believe my intentions aren't to push you or persuade you into or convince you to change what or who you are i am only sharing what i have faith in i will admit though that i do hope and pray the best for everyone and that these poems of faith were written for all of you as well with that intent i love you all and i hope you enjoy reading this book as much as i enjoyed writing it

new poems this author's third and most recent work starts by taking you along on a month full of the daily activities adventures difficulties and observations arising directly from hard country living december one poem for each day just for openers ravens the next series of sixteen poems takes you deeply into a metaphysical world of fascinating mythical and religious associations and meanings of ravens in cultural history and scripture around the world this is followed by the planets a beautiful little collection of seven poems with each planet addressed individually and sensitively through its classical themes that much would normally more than fill other contemporary books of poetry but this author has much more here although the author was thirteen years old when theodore roethke passed away in respect of theodore roethke presents nine poems which on their own probe some of the dark and difficult places of existence where roethke struggled finally various gives us ten poems that are not aligned topically and that give us the poet's informality and humor throughout all the reader will encounter here they will find a mastery of sound and structure strength and grace sending ultimately a plea of love into the world

One Poem 1995-01-01

a powerful collection of poems about family and grief by the pulitzer prize and t s eliot prize for poetry winner called a poet for these times a powerful woman who won't back down san francisco chronicle sharon olds completes her cycle of family poems in a book at once intense and harmonic playful with language and rich with a new self awareness and sense of irony the opening poem with its sequence of fearsome images of war serves as a prelude to poems of home in which humor anger and compassion sing together with lyric energy sometimes comic sometimes filled with a kind of unblinking forgiveness these songs of joy and danger public and private illuminate one another as the book unfolds the portrait of the mother goes through a moving revisioning leading us to a final series of elegies of hard won mourning one secret thing is charged throughout with sharon olds s characteristic passion imagination and poetic power the doctor on the phone was young maybe on his first rotation in the emergency room on the ancient boarding school radio in the attic hall the announcer had given my boyfriend s name as one of two brought to the hospital after the sunrise service the egg hunt the crash one of them critical one of them dead i was looking at the stairwell banisters at their lathing the necks and knobs like joints and bones the varnish here thicker here thinner i had said which one of them died and now the world was an ant s world the huge crumb of each second thrown somehow up onto my back and the young tired voice said my fresh love s name from easter 1960 when harriet monroe founded poetry magazine in chicago in 1912 she began with an image the open door may the great poet we are looking for never find it shut or half shut against his ample genius for a century the most important and enduring poets have walked through that door william carlos williams and wallace stevens in its first years rae armantrout and kay ryan in 2011 and at the same time poetry continues to discover the new voices who will be read a century from now poetry s archives are incomparable and to celebrate the magazine s centennial editors don share and christian wiman combed them to create a new kind of anthology energized by the self imposed limitation to one hundred poems rather than attempting to be exhaustive or definitive or even to offer the most familiar works they have assembled a collection of poems that in their juxtaposition echo across a century of poetry adrienne rich appears alongside charles bukowski poems by isaac rosenberg and randall jarrell on the two world wars flank a devastating vietnam war poem by the lesser known george starbuck august kleinzahler s the hereafter precedes prufrock casting eliot s masterpiece in a new light short extracts from poetry s letters and criticism punctuate the verse selections hinting at themes and threads and serving as guides interlocutors or dissenting voices the resulting volume is an anthology like no other a celebration of idiosyncrasy and invention a vital monument to an institution that refuses to be static and most of all a book that lovers of poetry will devour debate and keep close at hand

It Takes One to Know One 2001

a boston globe best poetry book of 2011 the poems of glyn maxwell possess a slow quiet fire they refrain from grand gestures from loud proclamations of emotion instead maxwell unveils these emotions gently quietly intricately like little postcards in a waxed envelope each of his poems is blake s world in a grain of sand maxwell s works reveal very little about their subjects there are rather merely the faintest well chosen hints of quotidian life a man kills a wasp a man falls in and out of love a man escapes from an unnamed pursuer but from these suggestive fragments it is possible to extrapolate an entire world the casual virtuosity that first brought maxwell great renown is on show throughout the poems collected in one thousand nights and counting lyrical or narrative comic or contemplative these are profound resonant explorations of love and fatherhood of triumph and longing they will not soon be forgotten

i studied music for years all of those years learning to read the notes and play in rhythm was an education in itself and paved the way for poetry but sarah etlinger's poetry is music an education in the rhythm and space of silence within those musical melodies i first read her work when she submitted to the magnolia review and i was immediately captivated i rarely accept entire packets but etlinger's was one of the few etlinger's poetry is a beautiful collection of images of lovers and how they connect and disconnect from noah to zeus to kant readers to god on the subway etlinger carries the reader through a narrative of love hope and loss in summer aubade the speaker begins sometimes we feel more than we ever are hammocked in your arms we fade into summer's constellations until dawn erases the stars such a beautiful way to end a poem the depth of etlinger's word choice is striking in every line a word never out of place a line break just so pretty perfect that i can't imagine this poem existing in a different way her word choices are precise and open the world into possibilities that i couldn't imagine without her voicing them images i've seen but haven't described in such gorgeous detail i can't even choose a favorite poem because i love them all i hope the reader enjoys every word in this collection as much as i have definitely on the list of poetry that i will come back repeatedly etlinger's work is a presence you need in your life suzannah anderson editor in chief at the magnolia review in still life with poetry one of the brilliant poems in this rich and lovely collection the speaker eyes a lover about to be abandoned by her partner and wishes to advise her to keep reading yeats and rilke and the sonnets keep their heartbreak on your sleeve indeed after you lay down sarah etlinger's collection never one for promises its poignant images precise and rich language and complex rhythms will similarly clothe you conjoined in these pages is the celestial with the earthly the mythic with the mundane certainty with faithlessness here is a eulogy for the brevity of passion and at the same time a reverence for the past here is the familiar persistent desire to make sense of the love stories we inherit to understand how they shape us to weigh our efforts to reshape them here is a world that compels us toward promises we know we cannot keep and so do not make to love better to be kinder to give ourselves wholly over to martyrdom for the ones we love for the strangers in libraries for our past selves our present selves here is the unforgiving world in which in the morning demons come out in layers and lovers suffer the hungry teeth of women here we recognize that the ones we care for must be treated mercilessly like geraniums cut back so they have no choice but to bloom it is a world in which the body serves as both love letter and confession invocation and hex it is one in which lovers write each other into being etching holy watermarks prayer scars and tattooed bands of tefillin on vulnerable skin it is one in which noah's wife mourns this whole complicated business of pairing in which gods mingle with us in the subways in which goddesses long for the sharp blade of the razor dr elizabeth johnston founder of straw mat writers and professor
