key issues that faces cuban policymakers today and will continue to face them is what steps to take in order to ensure the future of the sugar industry in 2002 nearly one half of the country's cultivated land was occupied by the 156 fully functional sugar mills more than a dozen plants and refineries and the complex transportation infrastructure brought about by the commerce the loss of preferential markets for cuban sugar that arose from the demise of the international socialist community constitutes a crisis that the cuban government has only begun to address with a radical restructuring plan that would foresee the reduction of sugar land and the elimination of about 100 000 jobs for increased economic emphasis on tourism the radical premise of this volume is that there is a future in the twenty first century for a reinvented cuban sugar agroindustry responsive to market signals organized around smaller and more agile production units producing raw sugar as well as high value added outputs and using some of the facilities to produce ethanol and generate electricity the editors have asked over a dozen recognized world experts on cuban agroindustry to analyze specific topics and make recommendations that would not only reinvent an industry for effective transition to a free market environment but that has the potential to reinvigorate the cuban economy providing employment opportunities and generating wealth for generations of cubans to come this handbook is a compilation of the current practical knowledge of flexible manufacturing systems fms fms professional identities interact this book brings together fields often viewed in isolation ethnographies of groups traditionally studied by anthropologists in new organisational contexts and examinations of the role of identity in corporate life opening up new perspectives on central areas of contemporary human activity it will be of great interest to those concerned with practical management of institutions as well as those of us who find ourselves working within them the generation of electricity while by no means the only energy sector to be taken into account in african countries is crucial to the modern economy generally and to the future growth of manufacturing in particular this study explores the problems of the power sector in africa including the tendency to the contribution of rural women to the creation and expansion of the japanese nation state is undeniable as early as the nineteenth century the women of central japan s nagano prefecture in particular provided abundant and cheap labor for a number of industries most notably the silk spinning industry rural women from nagano could also be found working from a very young age as nursemaids domestic servants and farm laborers in whatever capacity they worked these women became the objects of scrutiny and reform in a variety of nationalist discourses not only because of the importance of their labor to the nation but also because of their gender and domicile the countryside was the centerpiece of state ideology and practice before and during the war during the occupation and beyond under the shadow of nationalism explores the interconnectedness of nationalism and gender in the context of modern japan it combines the author s long term field research with a painstaking examination of driven boom to the bankers panic of 1907 the labor upheaval and violent repression during and after the first world war here is new york on a whole new scale moving from national to global prominence an urban dynamo driven by restless ambition boundless energy immigrant dreams and wall street greed within the first two decades of the twentieth century a newly consolidated new york grew exponentially the city exploded into the air with skyscrapers jostling for prominence and dove deep into the bedrock where massive underground networks of subways water pipes and electrical conduits sprawled beneath the city to serve a surging population of new yorkers from all walks of life new york was transformed in these two decades as the world s second largest city and now its financial capital thriving and sustained by the city s seemingly unlimited potential wallace s new book matches its predecessor in pure page turning appeal and takes america s greatest city to new heights the teaching of history in south african and japanese schools has attracted sustained criticism for the alleged attempts to conceal the controversial aspects of their countries past and to inculcate ideologies favourable to the ruling regimes this book is the first attempt to systematically compare the ways in which education bureaucracy in both nations dealt with opposition and critics in the period from ca 1945 to 1995 when both countries were dominated by single party governments for most of the fifty years the author argues that both south african and japanese education bureaucracy did not overtly express its intentions in the curriculum documents or in the textbooks but found ways to enhance its authority through a range of often subtle measures a total of eight themes in 60 officially approved standard 6 south african and japanese middle school history textbooks have been selected to demonstrate the changes and continuity this work hopes to contribute to the existing literature of comparative history by drawing lessons that would probably not have emerged from the study of either country by itself the dissertation won a publication prize at georg eckert institute for textbook research this book targets the key issues of both research and practice in innovation and strategic management fields and is regarded as one of the important works explaining enterprises from the innovation system perspective the book is based on the existing literature involving national innovation system regional innovation system and industrial sectional innovation system and reviews intra organizational innovation system researches and inter organizational innovation ecosystem literature accordingly the book proposes a core competence based innovation ecosystem framework indicating the importance of fit between firms internal core competence and external
