in the early 1990s artist xu bing stamped two pigs with respectively nonsensical latin words and fake chinese characters and allowed them to mate in an art gallery the performance of two creatures devoid of human consciousness yet carrying on their bodies the marks of human civilization engaging in the most primal form of social intercourse confronted the public with the tension between nature and civilization the work also addresses the tension between china and the west and therefore perfectly fits the core message of this book contemporary art in china takes place in a post socialist post mao context and at the same time a post traditional one searching for balance between aesthetic legacy and modernization it also tries to find its position in the post colonial globalized arena this book explores the tension between individual artistic freedom and a dominant discourse of central chinese government between china s cultural legacy and modernization and between china and a global art world still dominated by a western canon as a case study it focuses on the artists who participated in the venice biennale in 1993 which was the first time contemporary art from mainland china was structurally invited to participate in a global art context jeanne boden has a phd in oriental languages and cultures her research focuses on city the bustling metropolis was home to sophisticated intellectuals entrepreneurs and a thriving middle class when mao's proletarian revolution emerged victorious from the long civil war terrified of the horrors the communists would wreak upon their lives citizens of shanghai who could afford to flee in every direction seventy years later members of the last generation to fully recall this massive exodus have revealed their stories to chinese american journalist helen zia who interviewed hundreds of exiles about their journey through one of the most tumultuous events of the twentieth century from these moving accounts zia weaves together the stories of four young shanghai residents who wrestled with the decision to abandon everything for an uncertain life as refugees in hong kong taiwan and the united states benny who as a teenager became the unwilling heir to his father's dark wartime legacy must decide either to escape to hong kong or navigate the intricacies of a newly communist china the resolute annuo forced to flee her home with her father a defeated nationalist official becomes an unwelcome exile in taiwan the financially strapped ho fights deportation from the u s in order to continue his studies while his family struggles at home and bing given away by her poor parents faces the prospect of a new life among strangers in america the lives of these men and women are marvelously portrayed revealing the dignity and triumph of personal survival herself the daughter of immigrants from china zia is uniquely equipped to explain how crises like the shanghai transition affect children and their families students and their futures and ultimately the way we see ourselves and those around us last boat out of shanghai brings a poignant personal angle to the experiences of refugees then and by extension today zia's portraits are compassionate and heartbreaking and they are ultimately the universal story of many families who leave their homeland as refugees and find less than welcoming circumstances on the other side amy tan author of the joy luck club in a grand materialism in the new art from china mary bittner wiseman shows that material matters in the work of chinese artists where the goal is to call attention to its subjects through the directness and immediacy of its material like dust from 9 11 1001 chinese citizens paintings made with gunpowder written words or the specificity of its sites such as the three gorges dam artists are working below the level of language where matter and gesture texture and touch instinct and intuition live not reduced to the words applied to them art s subjects appear in their concrete particularity embedded in the stories of their materials or their sites wiseman argues that it is global in being able to be understood by all thanks to its materials and the stories that accompany it and the art is contemporary in having to make the case for itself that it is art finally it satisfies arthur danto s characterization of art as any representation that puts its subject in a new light by way of a rhetorical figure that the viewer interprets the material art from china is the paradigm for an art that is global and contemporary julius petersen s paper die theorie der regulären graphs in acta mathematica volume 15 1891 stands at the beginning of graph theory as we know it today the danish group of graph theorists decided in 1985 to mark the 150th birthday of petersen in 1989 as well as the centennial of his paper it was felt that the occasion called for a presentation of petersen s famous paper in its historical context and in a wider sense of petersen s life and work as a whole however the readily available information about julius petersen amounted to very little not even a full bibliography existed and virtually nothing was known about the circumstances that led him to write his famous paper the study of petersen s life and work has resulted in several papers in particular a biography a bibliography an annotated edition of the letters surrounding petersen s paper of 1891 an analysis of petersen s paper and an annotated edition of parts of petersen s correspondence with sylow on galois theory the first four of these papers together with a survey of matching theory form the first part of this book in addition to these five special papers there are papers submitted in the celebration of the petersen centennial chinese prose poetry today is engaged with a series of questions that are fundamental to the modern chinese language what is prose what is it good for how should it look and sound millions of chinese readers encounter prose poetry every year both in the most official of state sponsored magazines and in the unorthodox experimental work of the avant garde recite and refuse makes the answers to our questions about prose legible by translating surveying and interpreting prose poems and by studying the people politics and contexts that surround the writing of prose poetry author nick admussen argues that unlike most genres chinese prose poems lack a distinct size or shape their similarity to other prose is the result of a distinct process in which a prose form is recited with some kind of meaningful difference an imitation that refuses to fully resemble its source this makes prose poetry a protean ever changing group of works channeling the language of science journalism communist party politics advertisements and much more the poems look vastly different as products but are made with a similar process focusing on the composition process allows admussen to rewrite the standard history of prose poetry finding its origins not in 1918 but in the obedient socialist prose poetry of the 1950s recite and refuse places the work of state sponsored writers in mutual relationship to prose poems by unorthodox and avant garde poets from cadre writers like ke lan and guo feng to the border crossing intellectual and poet liu zaifu to experimental artists such as ouyang jianghe and xi chuan the volume features never before seen english translations that range from the representative to the exceptional culminating with ouyang jianghe s masterpiece hanging coffin reading across the spectrum enables us to see the way that artists interact with each other how they compete and cooperate and how their interactions as well as their creations continuously reinvent both poetry and prose tourism is a fast growing and changing industry which has become a driver of economic development in both developed and underdeveloped countries while the tourism industry's potential for shared value creation and sustainable development is acknowledged the concerns around the environmental and social pressures remain a challenge for businesses organizations and destinations this is because sustainable tourism arguably conflicts with the predominant neoliberal structure of the economy and with the hierarchical profit and consumption driven societies the emphasis on competition growth and profitability may undermine economic viability itself by consuming unreproducible resources and by undermining the six essential elements dignity people prosperity social justice planet and partnership that are conceptually linked to sustainable development the crises recurrently challenging the global travel and tourism environment including climate change bushfires extreme weather disasters pandemics and the financial crisis show the weaknesses of neoliberal approaches and the collective economic dependency of countries on tourism that is vulnerable if not completely unsustainable this vulnerability asks for understanding that the collective future depends on developing entirely new approaches and interpretation of tourism to effectively respond to the human societal social and climate challenges this book offers a novel and original perspective entailing the application of a humanistic management approach to sustainable tourism which is centered on the value of human life the protection of human dignity and the promotion of well being multiple theoretical approaches methods and practical cases on an international scale shed light on shared value creation and human dignity as a necessary condition for its achievement in different contexts implicitly and explicitly they respond to the current urgency to implement strategies to recover from the worldwide impact of the pandemic crisis and to provide a vision of what tourism could and should be when it recovers it will be of interest to researchers academics professionals and postgraduates in the fields of management sustainability and tourism development
